$100,000 Loss in Rifton Hotel Fire

By WALTER S. CLARK

RIFTON — Fire swept through the four-story frame Rifton Hotel, a summer weekend hotel on Route 213 today, despite combined efforts of more than 75 volunteer firefighters from five area fire companies.

An unofficial estimate placed the loss at upwards of $100,000.

Joseph Feraca, Town of Esopus Police Chief, said that the fire is under investigation.

Fire erupted on the first floor of the huge structure and raced furiously up the wide open stairwell to the three upper floors, mushrooming out into the approximately 70 rooms, authorities said.

The building was an old landmark and some old-time residents said it was built about 100 years ago and had been occupied as a boarding house and hotel. It was situated near a large pond.

During the height of the blaze which burned out of control more than an hour, large burning embers carried by a light wind pelted the area and fell on nearby frame buildings, but firemen managed to confine the flames to the main hotel structure.

It was 8:24 a. m. that Rifton Fire units were called out on an alarm and volunteers in command of Assistant Chiefs Richard Wagner and Rodney Phillips sped to the scene with four pieces of apparatus. At about the same hour, according to a dispatcher, the Ulster County Fire Control Center received a call from local fire officials for assistance

St. Remy and Tillson fire companies were dispatched to the fire scene. At 8:49 a. m. Blomington Fire Department sent a fully manned pumper to assist, and 9 a. m. Rosendale fire units moved to the Rifton firehouse to cover up. Five minutes later Port Ewen volunteers were ordered to move into the St. Remy firehouse where they remained on standby alert in case they were needed for another blaze.

Firemen laid hundreds of feet of 2½-inch hoselines lowered into the large pond at the rear of the hotel, and tons of water were pumped into the roaring flames that towered about 100 feet into the air. Dense clouds of smoke billowed upward and could be seen for miles around the area.

A fireman at the scene said the blaze apparently originated in the main kitchen. He said that he tried to get in the room but was forced back by the flames. Deputy Chief Wagner noted that the blaze might have erupted in the basement, but other firemen reported there was no fire in the cellar when they arrived on the scene.

"We didn't have a chance to save the building," a fireman said. "She (the hotel) went down in a hurry. The building was down at about 9:10 a. m."

Another official said the first group of firemen to arrive at the hotel property, couldn't get in with hoselines. "They would have risked their lives, they wouldn't have had a chance," he commented.

Within minutes the flames virtually shot up through the building, racing up the large stairwell and through the roof. The fire belched from the structure forcing firemen back a safe distance to avoid being burned or injured.

The entire structure was literally devoured by the flames in a short time despite the courageous efforts of the volunteers.

The hotel, also known as the Villa Borinquen, was situated just beyond Frank Kelly's service station and garage and not far from Armstrong's Black Swan Hotel on Route 213.

According to nearby residents the building was formerly the property of the Friedman family, well known in this area, and had been operated for many years as a hotel and boarding house for summer guests. It was reported that the property had been purchased by Mrs. Pilar Diaz of New York City.

The hotel had been a popular resort weekends for Spanish speaking people from the New York city area.

Officials said the hotel was being prepared for the summer season opening. Chief Feraca said no one was in the building when the fire broke out, and the origin of the blaze is under probe.

During the blaze, a group of members of the Rifton and St. Remy Fire Department auxiliaries served food and hot coffee to the volunteers.

The hotel was a total loss.

Paltz Students Vote On Closing of School

By NANCY SULLIVAN AND JEAN F. DOLAN

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz State University student balloting which was supposed to start at 7 a. m. today was mired in semantics and confusion. Voting finally started at noon.

Wording of the referendum on whether to continue classes for the remaining two and a half weeks of the semester was a matter of debate through most of the morning. Another snag was in determining the eligibility of students to vote. It was finally decided that parttime students could be included in the voting numbers. An estimated 6,000 undergraduates, graduates and parttime students could vote on whether or not classes should be continued for the rest of the semester.

The referendum would have no legal bearing on closing the college and would serve only as a petition to be presented to the administration. Dr. John J. Neumaier, college president said this morning "I doubt they want to close." Other administration personnel expressed the opinion that students did not want classes suspended so close to the end of the semester.

The ballot proposal came out of a mass rally on campus Monday afternoon. Approximately 2,000 students attended the session and according to reports, no one spoke out against the referendum.

Classes were meeting Monday but attendance was light as students were continuing protest efforts. Some urged class boycott as a means of "spreading the peace message."

Bard College students and faculty approved a semi-strike for the balance of the school year. Story on page 5.

Student strike leaders drafting the referendum this morning were using the financial aid office at the college. A fire, Thursday night, damaged the Mohawk House, a two-story frame building which had been used for student government offices for the past year. The administration has allowed students to use financial aid offices in the interim.

As some students debated wording of the ballot, others slept on the office floor. Other offices turned over for student use were the Instructional Research and Alumni offices.

Student strikers had occupied the administration building since the night of May 5 in demonstration against U.S. military moves in Cambodia and in reaction against the death of four Kent State students.

The original voting scheduled for today called for completion of the polling by 6 p.m. with results to be made known at 9 p.m.

Cambodia Withdrawal Already in Thousands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today "several thousand" U.S. troops have already been withdrawn from Cambodia, more would come out by the end of the week and major operations against Communist sanctuaries would be completed by June 15.

The secretary told the Senate Armed Sevices Committee that while the operations "have exceeded our expectations" and all U.S. forces will be out of Cambodia by June 30, the Nixon administraion remains opposed to a proposed limit on U.S. forces in Cambodia approved Monday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Such a limit, Laird said, might interfere with President Nixon's ability to protect American troops.

The secretary also held out the possibility that future drives will be needed into Cambodia but said that the South Vietnamese would be able to handle these.

"The South Vietnamese will be in a position by the time the rain season ends to handle any such operations should they be necessary in the future, Laird said, adding that such renewed efforts would likely not be needed until next November at the earlier.

He said that "The South Vietnamese have performed very well in this entire operation."

Laird said the Nixon administration has "lived up to the limits of Congress" which barred U.S. combat ground forces in Laos and Thailand. But he noted that the proposed restrictions for Cambodia would go beyond those.

Report Saigon gunboats have sealed off Cambodian border. Meanwhile, in Washington Senate Foreign Relations Committee has approved legislation to block funds for all American military action in that Southeast Asian nation. . . Stories Page 22.

President Nixon is now so firmly committed to a June 30 deadline for withdrawal of American forces from Cambodia officials doubt he could prolong the operation even if he found it militarily advisable to do so.

Despite this commitment, Nixon may yet be faced with pressure from field commanders for more time to complete the destruction of North Vietnam's Cambodian bases.

Some already are reported to believe they cannot do the whole job within the two months Nixon has specified.

The June 30 deadline applies to all support units and advisers attached to the South Vietnamese as well as to strictly American outfits engaged in the Cambodian operation, Nixon said at his news conference.

He stated the deadline without qualification as to any unforeseen development, officials say, because he wanted to stress that destruction of the sanctuaries is not a first step toward an indefinite U.S. troop involvement in Cambodia.

What worries some authorities here, however, is the possibility that North Vietnam may yet undertake some kind of counter action such as a political-military offensive against the present Cambodian government or a counterattack on allied forces.

This would confront Nixon and his military chiefs with a new situation—for which he already has closed his apparent options.

But officials also say the storm of opposition stirred up by his decision to send troops into Cambodia in the first place made it impossible for him to speak ambiguously about the limit of the assault.

New Nixon Youth Link— Campaign-Style Telecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is considering a campaign-style telecast to put the White House in closer communication with dissenting American youth.

And Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was quoted as saying he would like to explain, discuss and debate administration policy on college campuses, but feels there is no chance now for him to be heard.

These developments came up at the White House Monday as the governors of 43 states discussed with Nixon the problems of dissent and communication across the generation gap.

Agnew was said by a Democratic governor, Kenneth Curtis of Maine, to have remarked that "the rascals and the radicals" must be cleared off campuses if the government is to re-establish communications with students.

White House spokesmen said Agnew had told the governors he would like to appear on campuses himself, but faces the prospect of being shouted down by militants and not heard.

The governors spent nearly four hours with Nixon, Agnew and other top administration officials and got a briefing on U.S. operations in Cambodia.

"The President said we're not seeking to commit any of you to support of this decision," said Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, the Republican who heads the National Governors Conference. But he said Nixon told the governors he was confident "it was the right decision, that it will soon be over . . . ."

Love said no governor spoke in opposition to Nixon's decision to invade Communist sanctuaries across the Cambodian border from South Vietnam.

The emphasis was on communication with the young and with the campus.

Gov. Francis Sargent, a Republican from Massachusetts, suggested a telethon appearance by the President.

"There was nothing finalized on it; it was only a suggestion and a matter of discussion," White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler said.

Ziegler quoted Nixon as saying he would be willing to undertake such a telecast if it could be worked out as a means of communication with college campuses.

Agnew's remarks were a matter of more controversy. Gov. David F. Cargo, a Republican from New Mexico, quoted the vice president this way:

"He said that we have to re-establish authority over the campuses and that the anti-intellectual forces were in control and until they were removed there would be no way to carry on a dialogue with the students or faculty."

Cargo said that statement was made in the course of a heated exchange between Agnew and Democratic Gov. Frank Licht of Rhode Island. Licht said he had no heated discussion with anybody.

The Rhode Island governor said he gave a brief account of the situation on campuses in his state, reported that moderate students there are still working through the democratic system, and said a means of communication must be established to keep them with the system.

"The vice president made a short statement of what has become known as the Agnew line," said Democratic Gov. Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine. "He said we could never establish contact with students until we clear the rascals and the radicals out."

The Potent N. Y. Liberals Pick Goldberg, Goodell

NEW YORK (AP) — The state committee of the small but potent Liberal party has endorsed Arthur J. Goldberg, a Democratic candidate for governor, and Charles E. Goodell, a Republican seeking a full term in the U.S. Senate.

Goldberg, former U.N. ambassador and associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, was selected Monday night by a 5-2 margin over former U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau in a vote by the party's 300-man state committee.

Howard Samuels, a plastics millionaire who served in the administration of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, finished a distant third.

The endorsement put Goldberg in a position to launch a Democrat - Liberal campaign against incumbent Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller if he wins next month's Democratic primary. He will be opposed by Morgenthau and Samuels.

Goodell, unopposed for the Republican nomination, beat out four Democrats, with nearly twice as many votes as the combined total for second-place Paul O'Dwyer and third-place Rep. Richard McCarthy. Rep. Richard Ottinger and Theodore Sorenson, an aide to the late President John F. Kennedy, finished fourth and fifth.

The four Democrats are running for their party's Senate nomination, with Sorenson the choice of the State Democratic Committee.

Goodell, a former upstate congressman, was appointed to the Senate by Rockefeller to serve out the term of the slain Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The Liberal Party vote is considered important in both the gubernatorial and Senate races, especially since the Conservative party is running its own slate.

The Liberals and Conservatives received slightly more than a half-million votes each for their respective candidates for governor in 1966.

Woodstock Senior Facility Urged

WOODSTOCK — Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association this week announced that it has recommended to the Town Board and Woodstock Recreation Committee to provide recreational facilities for senior citizens of the township at the Andy Lee Memorial Field.

The association urges that the proposal of George H. Thompson of Zena be considered at an early date in order that such a facility could be used this summer.

Thompson originated a plan for 2 or 3 shuffleboard courts, 2 horseshoe pitching pits, a lawn bowling court, a croquet lawn, and such other activities as the interest of the senior citizen public might develop.

As chairman of an informal group of Woodstock citizens concerned about the lack of recreational facilities for senior citizens, he is most enthusiastic about the feasibility of the project, but is not connected with any senior citizen organization as member or official, Annette I. Dietz, association vice president said.

An appropriate fence with a padlocked gate about the area allocated to senior citizen recreation and a shed for storing equipment, would be needed. Except for the first year, the cost of the project is estimated at less than $1,000. Both active participants in games and onlookers would benefit. Younger people could be invited as guests. Many of the stay-at-home senior citizens would conceivably be induced to enjoy pleasant interludes away from their more or less reclusive residences, to the benefit of the community and themselves, the association vice president said.

Mindful of the current emphasis on recreational planning for Woodstock's children and teenagers, WTTA feels that the recreational welfare of senior citizens should receive very considerate attention. As an important homeowning segment of the population, they contribute substantially to the taxes collected by town and school authorities. They deserve this kind of outdoor social center, she said.

Closer Watch In Hurley

HURLEY — A tighter and closer watch on housing developers in the Town of Hurley will be instituted, according to Supervisor George Schroeder, who called a joint meeting of the town, planning and zoning boards Monday night.

The meeting was held in an effort to establish a closer relationship between the three boards which Schroeder said he feels will benefit the town in the way of future plannnig.

Explaining that in the past the boards acted independently of each other, the supervisor said they were receptive of his suggestions and it was agreed that each board exchange copies of their minutes with each other in order to keep fully informed as situations develop.

It was also decided that the names of candidates for future appointments to the planning and zoning boards be submitted to the town board in writing for its consideration.

Schroeder said that the town's two libraries presently have on hand copies of town board meetings and quarterly financial reports.

The supervisor said the closer watch on the developers is necessitated in view of certain drainage, water and road problems.

Zoning Proposals For Shawangunk

WALLKILL — A preliminary report on the zoning proposal for the Town of Shawangunk was presented at the recent meeting of the Town's Planning Board held at Town Hall, Wallkill.

Ralph Seligman, of Mayo, Lynch and Associates, planning consultants outlined the progress made to date on the zoning law proposal. He called attention to three specific areas. He noted that all references to billboards had been deleted; a flood plan section had been written and definitions of specific terms were now complete.

He reviewed lot sizes in various residential zones as they were now listed. R-AG-4, 5 acres; R-AG-3, 2 acres; R-AG 2, 1 acre; R-AG 1, 10,000 to 20,000 square feet, half acres or less.

The R-AG 5 area should be agricultureal with the attempt of trying to settle the R-AG-1 areas first. The R-AG-5 area is one where soil conditions are not conducive to housing.

There was also a general discussion on various points on zoning.

Town Supervisor M.J. Oscar Smith presented an application for consent to set apart lands for cemetery purposes for the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society. The requests had been sent to the Town Board. The secretary was directed to notify the Town Board in writing that the Planning Board had no objection to the request.

The supervisor also reported that the Town Board is in the process of setting up a Conservation Board.

During the general discussions it was noted that changes in the zoning proposals can be made up to and after the public hearings.

Protestors Block Albany PO

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — More than 1,000 protesting students stood six deep at all entrances to the city's federal building and adjacent main post office today, blocking entry into both facilities and effectively cutting off mail service throughout the city.

A spokesman for the post office said some mailmen had gotten inside to pick up their mail but could not get back onto the streets to make deliveries.

Many of the demonstrators, who stood silently, their hands folded over their chests, said they were students at the State University at Albany.

Students there last week had protested the widening of the Vietnam War into Cambodia, the killings of four Kent State students in Ohio and the New Haven, Conn., murder trial of Black Panther leader Bobby Seale. Today's demonstration was an extension of last weeks activity, some students claimed.

Traffic moved freely around the protest area in the city's downtown section as students remained on the sidewalks in front of the buildings. Workers in the federal building, including some identified as military recruiters, could not get inside to their jobs. They stood across Broadway quietly facing the youths.

The demonstration began at 7 a.m. in front of the State Capitol and the Alfred E. Smith State Office Building. An hour later the youths had moved several blocks south down State Street to the two buildings they blockaded.

At least one tractor trailer, marked U.S. Mail, was seen turned away from the Post Office.

A block away from the protest site some students manned a make-shift first-aid station in a van trailer. There was no serious trouble, however, although two minor scuffles broke out when federal employes tried to enter the buildings. Student marshals restored peace and apparently no one entered the building.

The demonstration was planned last night at the State University during a meeting of about 2,000 persons, a spokesman said.

More Protests on Campuses

By United Press International

Antiwar demonstrators battled authorities at the University of South Carolina, Portland (Ore.) State University and at American University in Washington, D.C., Monday as many of the nation's campuses logged another day of protests.

Two hundred University of South Carolina students broke into the treasurer's office late Monday, shattered furniture, scrawled obscenities on the walls scattered files and threw records out windows.

A crowd of 1,000 then began throwing rocks and bricks at National Guard troops. The guardsmen returned the missiles, and for 20 minutes the two sides filled the air with chunks of rock, occasionally scoring hits.

The guardsmen and highway patrolmen cleared and sealed off the campus but bands of 1,000 students milled near the school until early today.

Portland State students skirmished with police over a street barricade. When the initial contingent met resistance, 250 officers converged on the campus. Several students were clubbed when they tried to prevent destruction of the barricades. Twenty protesters were injured and one policeman was hit in the leg with a burning log.

At least 61 persons were arrested Monday night and early today in a confrontation between police and students conducting a sit-in on a busy street at Eastern Michigan University's Ypsilanti campus.

Assemblyman Bell Accorded Two Honors

KINGSTON — Dual honors came to Assemblyman H. Clark Bell today — he was invited to Gov. Rockefeller's New York office for the signing of a bill he cosponsored which provides $750 million for mortgage money for homes in New York State and he is being honored as "Legislator of the Year" tonight by the Homebuilders Association of the Hudson Valley.

The signing of the bill is significant in that home building in the state has been down 32 per cent for the first quarter and it is hoped that the new mortgage money will get into the building trades within 60 to 90 days.

The measure provides for the establishment of the New York State Mortgage Agency which would buy old mortgages from banks and then immediately return the money to the banks with the understanding that the banks put the money back into homes within 30 days.

The bill is meant to help offset the "tremendous breakdown" in housing construction in the state and to make presently hard to attain mortgage money available.

The bill was originally sponsored by Majority Leader Earl Brydges in the State Senate and cosponsored in the Assembly by Bell and Joseph Emory.

Bell and Emory secured amendments to the original proposition providing that not more than 40 per cent of the money would be allowed to go into construction of high rise construction and that all the money be used within New York State.

Bell explained that the amendment dealing with the 40 per cent limitation is meant to protect upstate housing development in view of the fact that practically all high rise buildings are erected in New York City. The amendment also states that at least 60 per cent be used for one and two story homes, which are prevelent in the upstate community.

Bell is being honored by the Homebuilders Association at a dinner to be held in the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Two Are Nabbed By City Police

KINGSTON

A 19-year-old youth was apprehended early today through the alertness of detectives, who accused him of attempting to commit a crime—burglary at Doc Smith's Garage at 285 Clinton Avenue.

In another related incident, a 16-year-old Poughkeepsie youth was caught by uniformed police after a chase following a traffic accident on Green Street.

According to authorities, Robert Riggins, 19, of Stoll's Trailer Park, Morton Boulevard, kicked a glass from the door at Smith's garage and reached inside allegedly to open the door. Police said the youth was frightened away but was later apprehended.

Meanwhile, police pursued a car driven by Richard Imperati of 1½ Harrison Street, Poughkeepsie, after the vehicle crashed into two vehicles parked on Green Street. The cars were owned by Frank and Lucille Noble of 167 Green Street.

Imperati was arrested after a high-speed chase. He was booked for leaving the scene of an accident, unlicensed operation, speeding and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Police said the car the youth was driving had been reported stolen in Poughkeepsie.

According to authorities, Riggins and Imperati had met in an uptown lunchroom and later they went to Doc Smith's garage. It was reported that Imperati spotted a police car pulling into the garage driveway and he took off in the stolen car.

Two Injured In Plant Mishaps

KINGSTON

Two men were injured in separate accidents in area industrial plants on Monday, and both were hospitalized.

David Ebel, 30, of R.D. 5, Kingston, suffered injuries of the right arm shortly after 9:30 p.m. when he was caught between a payloader and a machine being arranged at the Hudson Cement Plant.

Raymond Schick, 25, of Rose Lane, Saugerties, sustained leg injuries shortly after 2 p. m. when he reportedly was pinned between a machine and a catwalk at the Callanan Road Improvement Company plant on New Salem Road.

Ebel was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service, and Schick was removed to Kingston Hospital by the same ambulance service.

Infants, Girl Escape Injuries in Saugerties Mishap

SAUGERTIES

Two infants and a 13-year-old babysitter escaped serious injury Monday afternoon when the rear wheel of a tractor-trailer truck jumped the curb on rounding a turn at Hill Street and struck the two boys.

The brothers, John 3½ and Todd Le Blanc, 2, of Hill Street were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance Service, both suffering abrasions and shock. The younger brother, Todd was admitted and is reported in fair condition today. His brother was treated and released.

The driver, of the truck, Charles Krause of Lancaster, Pa., was issued a summons by Village Patrolman Kenneth Swart for failure to use due care. He was fined $10 when he appeared before Town Justice Calvin Cody.

Quick action by the babysitter, Eleanor Warfel of Church Street, who pulled the two boys from the curb, averted a tragedy. The younger boy was in a stroller, which, according to Police Chief Gordon Keeley was completely destroyed. The babysitter and the two infants were waiting to cross Hill Street at the top of the hill when the mishap occurred.

Chief Keeley said the truck was proceeding south on Hill Street when the rear wheel of the tractor-trailer jumped the curb.

Brody Arrested on Narcotics Charge

NEW YORK (UPI)— Michael James Brody, 21, who made headlines with his promises to give away $25 million, $100 million or, on one occasion, $100 billion, has been arrested for possession of marijuana.

The long-haired, guitar-playing youth, who recently was released from a California mental hospital, was arrested Monday at his apartment after passersby reported a nude man was throwing money from the window.

He was charged with felonious possession of marijuana, based on the undisclosed amount police allegedly found in the apartment.

Brody, heir to a portion of the Jelke oleomargarine fortune, is worth considerably less than the $25 million he promised to hand out to the public, according to his bankers.

At the time Brody entered the hospital, his wife of four months, the former Renee DuBois of Ashokan, was reported missing. When Brody left the hospital, the couple was reunited; quoted as saying would look for a home between New York City and the Catskills. Mrs. Brody had reportedly been in Mexico during her husband's confinement.

"It was hard to believe! But our total heating oil bill this winter was only $138.02.....and we still have fuel to spare."

SAYS BARBARA AND GEORGE COLWELL OF STAATSBURG, N.Y.

Barbara and George Colwell heated their large, 3-bedroom mobile home this past winter * for only $138.02 — and their 270-gal. tank is still two-thirds full.

That comes to less than $11.50 a month, including the oil that has not yet been used.

OR, APPROXIMATELY $9.00 A MONTH ON ACTUAL CONSUMPTION!

The Colwells like oil heat because they have two small children and, as Barbara says, 'you can't skimp on heat then'.

Modern oil gives people more for their money. More than they can get with any other automatic fuel. No other fuel can be compared with modern oil for comfort and dependability. It's the safest fuel you can use, too.

Just think, the Colwells get all this comfort and dependability for $9.00 a month. Economical? You bet!

Balance of School Year

Bard Students, Faculty Approve Semi-Strike

By TIM SCHUSTER

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON

A semi-strike for the balance of the school year was approved by student and faculty of Bard College at a Monday evening community rally.

The approved document will, in effect, allow those who wish to discontinue classes to pursue protest work do so without academic retribution, while allowing those who wish to continue classes to do so.

The proposal was the composite work of a student committee and a faculty proposal. About 1½ hours of discussion preluded the almost unanimous adoption of the package.

It read, in part, that the Bard community "cannot stand idly by" in view of "repressive governmental actions" and the continuance of the "Indo-Chinese war." It noted that classwork was not "inconsistent with political activity" and that students should be allowed to engage in either or both according to the dictates of their conscience.

Dr. Reamer Kline, president of Bard, stated to the crowd on the hill across from the gymnasium that he "will continue to back your undertakings," and he thought the proposal could be worked out satisfactorily.

He listed three aspects to consider: respect for those who protest; respect for the student's individual education; and respect of the teacher's right to teach.

He said he was confident that certain aspects of the situation could be worked out, such as the granting of partial academic credits for work completed thus far this semester. Bard is only slightly more than half way through its spring semester, as graduation does not occur until late June.

He said that the State Education Department in Albany is presently working on a policy statement on academic credits to cover such situations, and had promised to let him know the moment any announcement becomes official.

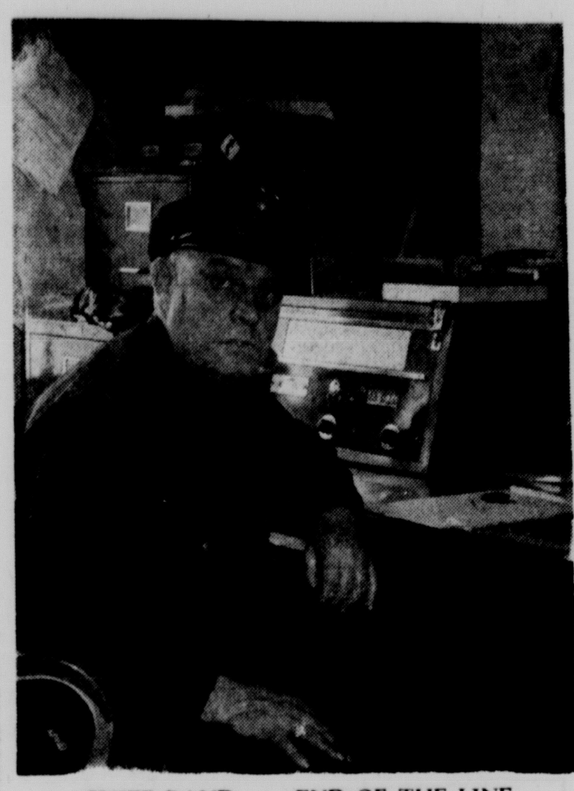

Kline also mentioned that the college was operating on a "narrow financial margin" and had encountered some setbacks of late, including proposed construction of modular dormitories. "This past week has probably been the worst in history to try to sell bonds for college dormitories," he noted, drawing a laugh from the crowd.

He said that the Faculty Executive Committee had set up "flexible" rules governing partial credit, which may include the giving of a pass-fail grade, an incomplete, or have the student substitute a paper for classwork missed.

The approved document also stated that Dr. Kline will draw up a resolution stating the college's viewpoints on the war and dissent for the benefit of President Nixon.

Those who opt to discontinue classes will participate in community workshops, concentrating on the Red Hook-Rhinebeck area, as well as lending support to such planned demonstrations as those this week in Albany and at Fort Dix, N.J.

Chief Rand on Retirement...Enjoyed Job

CHIEF RAND . . . END OF THE LINE

By NANCY SULLIVAN

ELLENVILLE

"I have found it a wonderful life. I've enjoyed every minute of it. There is only one regret—that due to health, I must leave."

Abraham Rand, Chief of Police for the Village of Ellenville, held a press conference Monday in which he announced that as of May 14, he will retire from the police force as chief. His retirement will fall on the anniversary of his first day with the Ellenville force.

Chief Rand entered the force May 14, 1941 as a partolman. He advanced to the rank of sergeant and then lieutenant and, on August 14, 1960, he was appointed as Chief of Police. "We've come a long way . . . from a four-man force to a 14-man force," commented Chief Rand.

When he first joined the force the police station was on Canal Street. Calls were taken at a local garage and they would put on a light above the traffic light in the center of town to let the force know that a policeman was needed. The entire force consisted of four men. In 1968, the department moved into its new headquarters on Main Street.

The present Ellenville police force consists of 14 men, besides dispatchers and four crossing guards. They have a new, modern lock-up. At one time, there were only three cells and now there are 10.

Chief Rand said that his work has involved him in various crimes. Bank robberies, attempted bank robberies, homicide, armed robbery, and drugs —"anything you name, we've had."

One of the most important cases during his career was a bank holdup during the early '50's. Chief Rand said that the suspect was apprehended in 18 minutes and all the money that was taken was recovered. As a result of this, he was invited to attend a television broadcast, "Wheel of Fortune" in New York City.

Chief Rand has conducted several schools for the New York State Municipal Training School. He attended many FBI schools and is a member of the New York State Chief of Police Association and the International Association of Chief of Police. He is involved in various organizations throughout the village and County. He is past president of the Wawarsing Sportsman's Association, the Ulster County Federation of Sportsmen, and the Lions Club. He is past master of the Wawarsing Masonic Lodge and is currently president of the Past Masters of Wawarsing Lodge No. 582, Ellenville.

There are "much heavier load cases today" than when Chief Rand first began on the force 29 years ago. The number of cases handled today as compared to the number in 1941 has more than tripled, he pointed out.

Chief Rand is married and is the father of two daughters and two grandchildren. He was born on Oct. 7, 1911 in New York City. He has not yet made any retirement plans as "the doctor rules my life." He suffered three heart attacks in 1969 and one in 1970, and plans to take it easy. Chief Rand had much praise for the job done by the police force when illness forced him off the job. "I can't praise them enough for what they've done for me." He also is grateful for the cooperation of the people of the Village of Ellenville and with the press.

Chief Rand explained that he was very sad at having to leave the force. It is not something that he wants to do but something that he must do because of his health. He said "I just came in to say hello and goodby and after today I'm going to hang up my uniform."

Former Dr. Leary Associate Relates His Trips on LSD

By HUGH REYNOLDS

POUGHKEEPSIE

A former associate and traveling companion of Dr. Timothy Leary (coast to coast, South America, Mexico, Europe and 200 "trips on LSD"), gave more than 1,000 Poughkeepsie High School students the benefit of his experiences at an assembly at the school today.

Robert Moorman, 28, spent six years on drugs, beginning when he smoked his first marijuana cigarette at the urging of some friends.

Moorman's conclusion? "People who use drugs are stupid."

Moorman was brought to Poughkeepsie High School by David Lenefsky, a West Shokan lawyer, who is running for the New York State Senate on the Democratic-Liberal ticket.

In introducing Moorman, Lenefsky said, "I intend to develop a campaign theme that a politician today must acquire an expertise and a competence in the social and economic problems confronting our society."

Lenefsky said he felt it necessary to sponsor Moorman's lecture, rather than speak to the students himself because, "Mr. Moorman knows what it's like. He's been there."

Moorman grew up in Virginia where his parents warned him of the danger of drugs. He entered the Army at 17 and was discharged three years later.

Moorman moved to Cambridge, Mass., where he became involved with drugs and later met Dr. Leary. He was with Leary for more than two years, traveling much of the world and living in the so-called "hippie world."

One story that Moorman told was about a girl in Poughkeepsie who is now paralyzed from the neck down after a "bad trip" on LSD. According to the speaker the girl took the drug and began hallucinating that Poughkeepsie was about to be taken over by Nazi Gestapo. To avoid being "captured" she attempted suicide by diving head first off a radiator. She is now completely paralyzed from the neck down.

Moorman said he was on heroin for eight months, running out of the drug in Lima, Peru. He went back to Miami, Fla., for more of the drug, later traveling from Miami to Cambridge where he was in bed for 12 days "in intense physical pain."

Moorman kicked the habit and is now trying to help younger people avoid it. "He doesn't lecture to the young people," Lenefsky said. "He just tells them like it is."

Lenefsky is making arrangements for Moorman's appearance at various Ulster County high schools.

Red Hook District Sets Voting Date

RED HOOK

Residents of the Red Hook School District were reminded at Monday evening's meeting of the Board that each person must be individually registered to vote on June 10.

The Board of Education will hold its annual meeting at 7:30 p.m. June 9 in the high school gymnasium. Voting will be hled at the high school from 2-9 p.m. June 10.

Items to be voted on are: the 1970-71 school budget; election of one member to the Board of Education for a five-year term; and permission to continue to rent three classrooms to the Board of Cooperative Educational Services for use in teaching handicapped children from Red Hook and Rhinebeck.

The proposed budget will be available in all school offices for certain May 27, and District Principal Russell J. Keefe said that he hoped to have it ready for distribution at registration by May 23.

Registrations will be held at the high school May 23-30 from 2-9 p.m.

In other business, bids for milk products and fuel oil were awarded to Fitchett Brothers Dairy and Kingston Oil Supply respectfully.

Kathryn Hall was appointed speech therapist for next year; James Melino was appointed high school German and English teacher; and Thomas Cook was appointed maintenance employe.

A letter was read from Robert Becker, Milan Hollow Road, protesting dangerous conditions for his children to walk to the school bus stop some 3/10-mile distant.

A request was read from Nancy Sargent, a Spanish teacher, asking for one year's leave of absence.

Two applicants for the position of assistant high school principal were interviewed in closed session by the board. Both are currently members of the faculty. They are Peter Lawson, athletic director, and Edgar Fisher.

An application for the formation of a school chess club, with 19 initial student members, was approved by the board.

Keefe noted that the incidence of National Merit Scholarship winners was very high in the area, as mentioned in a congratulatory note from an area bank. He said that 12 per cent of the state's total winners were found in Dutchess and Orange Counties, and that Red Hook had two finalists. This means that they were rated among the top 7/10 per cent of students in the nation.

Troop Withdrawals

American troops are buying time in Cambodia. Time to gather the 150,000 men to be sent home within a year, and time to capture or destroy the weapons and ammunition and food the Communists had piled up in Cambodia. Most of it was there so the Reds could attack our forces. The job will take six or eight weeks, at least, maybe less.

President Nixon gave members of the Senate and House Armed Services committees this information as he briefed them on his reasons for sending American troops into Cambodia. He promised that American troops will be pulled out within six or eight weeks. And House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the enemy would need at least five months to resupply, maybe more.

The President said that American and South Vietnamese forays into the Communist military sanctuaries will set back North Vietnamese efforts by eight months. This would make it possible to continue or perhaps even to accelerate the scheduled U. S. troop withdrawals from South Vietnam.

True, the briefing did not appear to change many minds, though there were 30 Senators and 75 Representatives present, plus members of the leadership of both parties. By and large, those who supported the President were reassured and armed with new arguments. Those who were skeptical or opposed remained unconvinced.

So much so, that proposals were introduced in both houses to terminate the U. S. foray into Cambodia within 30 days, action in Laos and Vietnam by the end of this year, and the withdrawal of all U. S. troops by the middle of next year—a schedule which obviously would substitute Congressional direction of the war to that of the Commander-in-Chief and his military commanders.

Republican Senate Whip Robert P. Griffin assailed this proposal as reckless and irresponsible, adding "This is no time to pull the rug out from under the President of the United States." That just about tells it all.

College Election Break

The Princeton University announcement of a special two-week recess just before the November 3 general election to allow interested students and faculty members to work in local, state and congressional elections is the beginning of a wide movement to work "within the system" to change national policy instead of through riots and demonstrations. Many other universities and colleges are lining up to make the movement nationwide.

Gary Orfield, Princeton professor and faculty coordinator, was a supporter of Hubert H. Humphrey in the last presidential election. It is to be expected that he feels the movement reflects "intense disenchantment" with the Nixon administration. However, the Princeton academic community represents a broad cross-section of opinion on this largely moderate campus and it will be interesting to note how this will be reflected in the political work students and faculty members undertake.

The idea of involving campus persons in politics is a good one and will demand that the "silent majority" go out and speak at the polls or we will soon have a very different America, leaning far left. Activist students have become polarized. There are radicals and militants, who prefer direct action. And there are moderates who prefer to work within the system. These are both bipartisan and divided philosophically. They will show how student participation leans when they go to work at the polls this fall.

"Wake Up, Genius, It's Time to Do Your Thing About Cambodia!"

David Lawrence Says
Red China, Soviet Union Leaders True U.S. Enemies

WASHINGTON — Who are the real enemies of the United States in the war in Southeast Asia? The tens of thousands of youths who have been engaged in "demonstrations" here and throughout the country think that it's only the North Vietnamese Government and that the United States could pull out of the conflict at once with no ill effects to the American people. But the true enemies are the leaders of Communist imperialism — Red China and the Soviet Union.

It is 25 years since World War II ended and the military power of Communism began to be asserted in Europe as well as Asia. Almost all of the young people of today had not been born them. Nor have they learned the facts which are essential to an understanding of the story — why the United States has troops in South Vietnam and is planning to help other nations develop military strength not only to protect themselves but to assist neighboring countries against aggression. Meanwhile, nuclear power built by the Soviet Union and Red China is in the background as a threat to peace.

Unfortunately, as the television networks confined themselves largely to broadcasting on Saturday the almost hysterical comments of the student leaders from the platform on the ellipse near the White House, the Country didn't hear "the other side" of the argument. In the Washington "Evening Star," however, a remarkbably comprehensive statement by a student group appeared that day which was different. It was in a full page and entitled "an appeal to reason — addressed to the moderate majority in the anti-war protest." The ad was sponsored by the United Students Alliance of Somers, New York, and the declaration said in part:

"An immediate pullout, as demanded by the critics, would inevitably lead to a Communist victory. What would the consequences of such a victory be? It would deal a fatal blow to American credibility and result in the galloping erosion of the system of alliances which today restrains Communist expansion.

"It would enhance the danger of war because it would encourage Red China and Moscow to embark on new adventures, believing that a defeated and discredited and divided United States can do nothing to restrain or interfere with their expansionist designs. It would pose a particularly critical danger to Israel because it would create a serious possibility of open Soviet intervention in the Middle east.

"On the domestic plane, there would be a parallel danger. The polarization of our society, already serious today, would become infinitely more acute, creating the imminent danger of an extremist takeover, either by left wing fanatics of the ilk of Jerry Rubin, or by right wing fantics committed to fascism....

"Will you join us in defending the right of small nations to be independent and neutral? Will you join us in protesting the open Communist invasion of Laos and Cambodia? Because if you protest only against your own government, you strengthen the hawks in Hanoi and prolong the war you wish to end."

Why, it may be added, aren't the "activists" who are conducting the "demonstrations" familiar with the acts of the Communist government in North Vietnam? The data as to the progress made by the United States in helping develop the South Vietnamese army has been available at government departments here. The story of the Communist "sanctuaries" in neighboring areas has been fully disclosed, and the President has stated clearly that American troops will be withdrawn from Cambodia by the end of June. Yet the emphasis of the critics is on an "invasion of Cambodia" and a "widening of the war."

How much does Communist influence have to do with stirring up disorders in colleges in this and other countries? J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, in a report just made public by a House Committee says there is plenty of evidence that the mass anti-war "demonstrations" of November 15 in this country and anti-U.S. "demonstrations" abroad on the same day were not just a "coincidence" and were inspired in large part by Communist elements.

Many of the rallies by students in the United States and in Europe and Asia, as well as in Latin America, are by no means a "coincidence" either. Yet the Communist intrigue and the billons spent by the Soviet Union and Red China over the last few years to support the North Vietnamese army get virtually no attention from the anti-war groups or their leaders here or in other parts of the world.

Jack Anderson Says

Rep. Jacob Gilbert, Seafarers' Lobbyist Eating Buddies

WASHINGTON — Dark, dapper Rep. Jacob Gilbert, the Bronx Baritone, collected $9,121 from the Seafarers Union during his 1968 campaign but reported only $500 of it to the Clerk of the House. This was an apparent violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

The Seafarers, in return for their political investment, got a golden dividend. Their lobbyist, Philip Carlip, operates out of Gilbert's office as if he were paid by the taxpayers instead of hired by a union to influence legislation. He deals and dickers from a convenient desk provided by Gilbert and uses Gilbert's government-paid secretaries to take messages.

Presumably out of gratitude, Carlip has paid some of the Congresssman's restaurant bills at the nearby Democratic Club. If Carlip isn't around to pick up the tab, Gilbert sometimes signs the lobbvist's name to the restaurant checks.

Lobbyist Pays Tab

"Jack" Gilbert, sucking nervously on a huge cigar which he kept relighting, tried to explain.

"There have been occasions when he (Carlip) left the table and said, 'Sign my name, Jack.'" mumbled the Congressman, his mellifluous voice trailing off.

He told of a 15-year friendship, which began when he was a lowly state legislator and Carlip was a small-fry lobbyist in Albany, N.Y. Having a lobbyist in his outer office, in view of their long friendship, seemed to Gilbert mere hospitality.

"He (Carlip) spends a good deal of time here. He receives phone calls. He may sit around and read newspapers. He just needs a place to hang his hat," said Gilbert.

He was aware that the Justice Department is investigating the Seafarers' campaign contributions but said federal agents hadn't questioned him about the $9,121 he received.

"There's nothing improper about our relation with the Seafarers," said the Bronx Baritone. "I have a high regard and respect for the Seafarers."

He lapsed into confusion, however, when he was asked about the difference between what the Seafarers gave to his campaign and what he reported under the Corrupt Practices Act.

Tracing $9,121

This column painstakingly traced the $9,121 through a maze of committees. Some money was funneled by the Seafarers Committee on Political Education and the Seafarers Political Activity Donation Committee directly into Gilbert's various campaign committees.

The second Seafarers committee, for instance, delivered $4,500 to the Gilbert for Congress Committee. Yet not one penny of this was listed on the official reports that the law required Gilbert to file.

The Seafarers shelled out still more money to Log Press, Inc. and Prospect Photographic Corp. to pay printing costs.

Most of Gilbert's campaign funds were handled by his law partner, John Foley, who was treasurer of at least three campaign committees.

Gilbert still earns a modest side income, incidentally, from his law firm. Up until two years ago, the taxpayers also helped to pay the salary of his legal secretary, who worked in his Wall Street firm, not in his Bronx congressional office. He claimed she did congressional clerical work for him.

Gilbert faces a showdown battle with Rep. Jim Scheuer in the Democratic primary to determine who will represent their consolidated Bronx district. The campaign will cost money. Commenting wistfully on the $9,121 he got from the Seafarers, Gilbert said: "I wish it were more."

Chewing in Senate

This column's search for the tobacco chewers, whom Vice President Spiro Agnew's office claims abound in the Senate, has produced another devotee.

He is Senator William Saxbe, R-Ohio, who has had the habit since he first tried the stuff at age 7 behind the barn of his family's homestead in Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

The discovery of Saxbe makes a total of two Senators who chew. The other is Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., whose spitting in the Capitol corners caused the great controversy over tobacco chewing in the Senate.

Agnew's office, defending Talmadge's tidiness and denying, anyway, that he was the only offender, issued the flat statement: "Presently, there are several Senators who chew tobacco."

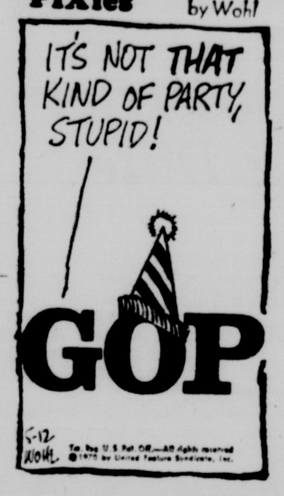

This column conducted a thorough search but could find none of Agnew's chewers other than Talmadge. The reason we missed Saxbe, apparently, is that he leaves no trail of tobacco stains in his wake.

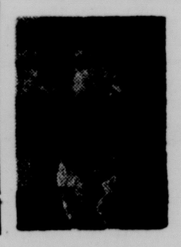

He is so concerned with cleanliness that he keeps a cuspidor in the front seat of his compact car to avoid splattering the juice on the streets of Washington. He is even more careful not to befoul the Capitol corriors, and he keeps a spitoon discreetly hidden beside his desk both on the Senate floor and in his office.

Despite his care, Saxbe's staff is trying to get him to swear off tobacco chewing. "We're trying to convert him to an imported briar pipe," said an aide, "but we're not having too much luck."

His staff has found one advantage, however, of the habit. "When he has a group in his office that he wants to get rid of, he'll lean over and hock into the spitoon. That usually shakes them up and ends the interview."

Henry J. Taylor Says
The Conviction of Dr. Fiedler

Somebody has to stop this "permissiveness" thing, and in Buffalo, N.Y., City Judge H. Buswell Roberts struck a needed blow in that direction when he sentenced an "I'm the law" college professor to six months in jail.

The swing he took hit a famous darling of many confused intellectuals, Dr. Leslie A. Fiedler, 53, a literary critic, writer and English professor on the State University faculty at Buffalo, and his wife, Margaret.

They were convicted for maintaining premises (their campus house) where marijuana was used, but even more important is what fed-up Judge Roberts said to this professor:

"You have the minds of thousands of young people in your care. They look to you for example. This gives you enormous influence. It also imposes on you a special responsibility, which includes not only academic excellence but a high standard of personal conduct. What you say and do establish, at least for your students, norms for permissible behavior. Therefore, the penalty for the abdication of that responsibility must be severe."

Crying foul, foul, foul at the court and shouting, "I have only just begun to talk," the startled Professor Fiedler is trying to herd together Harvard's euphoric Dr. J. Kenneth Galbraith, arrogant Arthur Schlesinger jr. and other publicity-seekers among our teaching-writing-talking intelligentsia to help him appeal Judge Roberts' sentence.

Intellectuals are the glory of America. Blessings be, we have more intellectuals than the rest of the world combined. They are America's great reservoir of knowledge. But too many of the Fiedlers among them most certainly overemphasize their rights and bypass their responsibilities.

In preaching permissiveness, if "anything goes" then, of course, everything goes. Among the great body of intellectuals their support is more narrow than they pretend. And when they combine this preaching with "I'm the law," even the term "intellectual" itself goes over with many intellectuals like an iron balloon.

Some time ago I was in London with respected British author Evelyn Waugh, a graduate of Hertford College, Oxford, whose credentials as an intellectual are certainly impeccable. Listen to Waugh: "I am not an intellectual. That's a Marxist term. It sprang up in the middle European countries to distinguish a class — which doesn't exist in Anglo-Sacon life — between workers and bourgeoisie. I don't like the word."

The Fiedler ilk has gone far beyond its student group. They have convinced many well-intentioned people, and encouraged those not well-intended, that "bad laws" ought to be broken and that the violator should decide which laws are bad. Yet no society of consent could live that way, and no other society would care enough about the rights of a nonconformist to consider it.

As distinguished former Yale Law School dean Eugene V. Rostow remarks, "Even the most tolerant of societies cannot ignore indefinitely wars against it waged by individuals or groups." What Italian philosopher-statesman Benedetto Croce called "the religion of liberty" is a demanding creed.

Is the dissenting professor, youth or any other citizen who insists that the draft, the drug, the arson or other laws are unjust, immoral or inapplicable to him entitled to live by his own view? If so, by what authority?

It should be obvious to all of us, as it was to Judge Roberts, that no democratic society can accommodate such claims or accept what the Fiedler ilk grandiosely call "an artistocracy of conscience."

We honor intellectualism and the diversity of views, but this country has not yet made the Fiedler breed into kings by divine right, nor are we likely to. And as for their "aristocracy of conscience," hokus-hokey-hokum.

Accepting such a proposition often based on their own convenience, self-interest or cowardice, would make concord within society impossible. The number of individual Fiedlers and groups who claim their own superior virtue would boil society as a whole into a totally unworkable insecure mess — the name for which is anarchy.

Do not underestimate the dangers of the Fiedlers in our schools, colleges and country as a whole. Judge Roberts was as right as right can be. They are a part of an immense self-aggrandizing cabal responsible for their share of the tragic and horrible anarchy which has carried America literally into a civil war, the end of which no living man can foresee.

How long would an adult tolerate a corporation which withheld his pay for passing notes to a friend, or judged his achievement on the basis of one assignment, or detained him from going home because he giggled in the library?

I'd like to get rid of this idea of a nondisruptive sit-in. A sit-in itself is disruptive. Moreover, (when we take a building) we should not be viewed as there for moral witness. We're in there to exercise power.

Believes Lower Voting Age Might Cut Student Tension

By LEE MUELLER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Reduce the voting age to 18, says anthropologist Dr. Margaret Mead, and you reduce student tension on college campuses across the country.

"Denying a person a voice in his government can put the sanest men and women into a rebellious and frustrated state where they no longer trust the political process on which our freedom is built," she said.

Quite frankly, I used to wonder about some of the things Dr. Mead said. Not any more. The lady knows of what she speaks.

I was raised in Kentucky, one of the two states where 18-year-olds can vote. As I recall, it was quite different in those days. The only liberal I knew was a girl who would kiss you on the first date. I thought a moderate was a man who didn't drink much.

We were pretty tame, as I think about it, but the thing I recall about voting for the first time — other than the fact that Martin County was still using gray metal ballot boxes and that I marked my ballot with a wooden stamp — is a feeling:

I voted for Bert T. Combs (who was to become governor), walked out of the courthouse and felt this tingle of satisfaction — the kind that expands your lungs and allows you to breathe deeper than normal. It wasn't just their country any more. It was my country, too. I didn't tell anyone because I thought they'd laugh.

There are persons who are against giving wild-eyed, hairy-faced college students the right to vote, of course. "Thank goodness they can't," said a co-worker recently, "or we'd all be working under the McCarthy administration now."

This is not necessarily true. Responsibility is something that cannot be imagined. It can only be felt and, as a responsiblity, voting weighs heavy. In my own mind, I ceased being a teen-ager when I started voting. It was like being 21 three years early. I felt like a man.

Suddenly, age is no excuse. Gone, technically, is the youthful abandonment. Gone is the right not to think. Gone, gone, gone. (It takes as much adjusting to keep from being a teen-ager. I found, as it does to start being an adult, but — somehow — the effort finds expression in the voting machine booth.)

Pulling the lever is a growing-up process. A guy becomes someone. A voter. A discriminate human being.

The feeling here is that too much attention is devoted to the teen-ager in American anyway. Who, I ask, are the genuine hell-raisers of the day? Not 17-year-old rock musicians. Not beardless teeny-boppers who go unwashd and say they're hippies. No, not them.

The genuine hell-raisers are the frustrated college kids, bordering on adulthood, playing with it, without the essential adult right to be counted.

This does not imply of course, that the 18-year-old's right to vote will create harmony and good will across U.S. campuses and that college students will again begin playing ukuleles and riding in canoes. Maybe it won't stop riots.

It will, however — as Dr. Mead suggests — create another form of expression not previously found in peace marches and sit-ins. Maybe that's something.

Israel Fights Lebanon Troops, Syrian Planes

By United Press International

Two spearheads of 100 Israeli tanks and 1,000 troops slammed into southern Lebanon today in a reprisal drive against Arab guerrillas. Syria sent waves of MIG17s into the fight and Israel said its pilots shot down three of them.

It was the first time since the 1967 war that Israel had fought two Arab nations in one battle. The Israeli thrust penetrated eight miles into the Mount Hermon area of southeastern Lebanon but was reported stalled at 1 p.m. after seven hours of heavy fighting.

The Beirut government said it would seek an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council to discuss the situation. It said its ground gunners downed one Israeli Phantom fighter-bomber.

Syria announced its entry into the battle with a communique that said its planes were attacking Israeli warplanes over Lebanon and its tank and artillery crews were attacking Israeli positions along the Israel-Syria front.

Israel said three of the Syrian planes were shot down. No Israeli plane losses were reported, either to ground fire while attacking Lebanese positions or in the dogfights.

Reports reaching UPI correspondent Gerard Loughran in Beirut indicated Iraqui forces stationed in Jordan had launched a heavy artillery attack at the same time against Israeli troops along the Israeli-Jordanian frontier.

Israel said the twin thrusts came in retaliation for 61 Arab guerrilla attacks from Lebanon against 22 Israeli settlements in the past 40 days.

Military spokesmen in Tel Aviv said the strike, aimed at cleaning out Arab guerrilla bivouacs on the slopes of Mount Hermon, "is going according to plan and should be completed by sunset. The Israeli forces definitely will withdraw today."

Israeli troops passed out leaflets to Lebanese villagers appealing to them to help drive out the guerrillas. The leaflets began with a proverb: "He who sows thorns will not harvest grapes, and he who lights fires may be burned."

Lebanon said its men turned back Israeli troops from the village of al-Khreybeh, three miles inside the border from the Golan Heights, and were fighting to defend defensive positions at nearby Marjayoun.

President Charles Helou of Lebanon called his cabinet into emergency session at 7 a.m., Beirut Radio said. His government had been warned to curb Arab guerrilla attacks from Lebanon into Israel or face the consequences.

Texas Tornado Claims 26 Lives

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI)—A tornado striking suddenly out of the darkness in heavy rain and hail tore an eight-mile long gash through Lubbock Monday night.

Twenty-six persons were killed by the twister and 502 were injured. Damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

All power in the city was knocked out and hospitals and one radio station went to auxiliary power. The only lights in the streets were automobile headlights and the red flashers on police vehicles.

"It's bad," said a Department of Public Safety spokesman. "There is widespread damage to the downtown area. It is believed there may have been some people trapped in some demolished buildings."

Both large hospitals in Lubbock, a city of 161,000 on Texas' South Plains, overflowed with the injured. Methodist Hospital and West Texas Hospital set up beds in the hallways. Most of the patients suffered from injuries from flying glass and falling debris. Water mains were broken and the supply of fresh water became critical.

In the downtown section, debris littered the streets, making passage nearly impossible. City officials, backed by the National Guard and area law officers, sealed the area after widespread looting. All unauthorized persons downtown were arrested.

The tornado touched ground in the southwest section of the city near the Texas Tech University campus.

"It moved northeast through the downtown area and into the vicinity of the municipal airport," said regional DPS commander Maj. Charles Bell. "There is extremely heavy damage in the total path of the storm. It is estimated at eight miles long with bad damage in the downtown area."

The damage covered an area of 2,500 square blocks in the middle of the city. Lubbock Mayor Jim Granberry declared a state of emergency.

Smiley Wilson Junior High School was turned into a temporary morgue. Several other large and undamaged buildings were made into shelters for the homeless.

Granberry, over the city's only broadcasting radio station, urged citizens to conserve water until the city's system gets back into operation.

Blackmun...Almost Sure

WASHINGTON (AP) — With scarcely a whisper of opposition, Judge Harry A. Blackmun's Supreme Court nomination headed for almost certain Senate appproval late today on President Nixon's third try to fill a year-old high court vacancy.

Absent in the confirmation vote was the highly charged political atmosphere accompanying rejection of Nixon's first two nominees, Judges Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C., and G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Senators who attacked Haynsworth on ethics grounds and Carswell for his judicial record and racial views lined up behind Blackmun, a judge on the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals and a long-time friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

The stage for Blackmun's confirmation was set Monday when the Senate brought it up. What little debate there was went in his favor. Senators spent most of the time talking about Cambodia.

The judge's nomination was approved by a 17-0 vote of the Senate Judiciary Committee after a hearing at which no witnesses appeared in opposition.

He was nominated by Nixon April 15.

Nebraska, West Virginia Balloting For Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Voters in Nebraska and West Virginia ballot today to choose candidates for the U.S. Senate. In Newark, N.J., six candidates vie in a mayoral election that appears headed for a runoff.

Incumbent Sens. Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, a Democrat, and Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, a Republican, were considered strong favorites for renominations.

Byrd, seeking a third term, was opposed by John J. McOwen, a Huntington lawyer whose only previous political try was an unsuccessful campaign for the state legislature in the 1950s.

There was no GOP candidate for Byrd's post. But the vacancy can be filled by action of the Republican executive committee in time for the general election.

West Virginia's five incumbent representatives—all Democrats—were seeking renomination. All but Rep. Harley O. Staggers, chairman of the House Commerce Committee, faced opposition.

In Nebraska, Hruska faced only token opposition in the GOP primary. In the Democratic race, former Gov. Frank B. Morrison faced lively competition from Wallace C. Peterson, University of Nebraska Economics Department chairman.

Also at stake was the Republican nomination for governor, with state Sen. Clifton B. Batchelder, a well-to-do Omaha businessman, making a vigorous challenge to the renomination bid of incumbent Norbert T. Tiemann.

In the Newark mayoral election the field included incumbent Hugh J. Addonizio who faces trial next month on a federal indictment, two blacks, and a militant white law-and-order candidate.

In loving memory of our loved one,
These are things death can not sever,
Age, tears, pain nor cruel care,
Can harm her or enter memory's hall,
She that we loved, beautiful and fair,
For life's dangers now secure is she,
Lovely she was, lovely she shall be.

Senior Citizens From Rondout Meeting Tonight

KINGSTON — The Martin Luther King Senior Citizens Group will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the Rondout Neighborhood Center on 11 Broadway.

Mrs. Annie Jackson, chairman of the organization, termed the meeting "highly important" and said matters of vital interest to elderly persons in the downtown section of the city would be discussed. She urged all senior citizens to attend.

Seek More Aid For Libraries In Rural Areas

An appeal for first aid for rural libraries was made by Francis E. Doughty, president of the board of the Mid-Hudson Libraries system at a recent state Systems Conference at Troy.

He asked for greater parity in the state aid formula for the small rural libraries. Doughty contended that, because of the nature of rural library systems, they were and are founded on a "poverty base of tax support." Inadequate to serve large geographic areas scattered over wide and difficult terrain.

He cited the Mid-Hudson Libraries system as an example. "We serve 57 member libraries and three reading centers over an area more than twice the size of Rhode Island. Our vehicles would have to travel more than 3,000 miles a week to provide daily delivery service to all our libraries," he said.

Attending the conference with Doughty were Leon Karpel, MHL director and Patrick Sweeney, coordinator of public relations for the systems agency.

Rosendale Tillson

The Rosendale Senior Citizens Club will hold its May meeting Wednesday at the Rosendale Grange Hall, Main Street, at 7 p. m. Entertainment will be furnished by the Lefooters. The hostess organization will be the Rosendale P-TA.

Card of Thanks

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Many people are already giving "vacation time" much serious thought:

Anyone who has packed a tent in a car, trailer, or boat knows how unhandy all those tent poles can be.

Here is the way we solved the problem:

I took an old pair of blue jeans (without holes, of course) and cut off the legs. I sewed these two legs together at the cut edge, and also sewed one end closed, making cloth tube about six feet long.

I used the hemmed; open edge of the jeans as a casing, threaded a piece of rope through it — and now have the handiest bag ever to pack those poles in.

We use it the year round for storing them.

June M. Parker

* * *

Well, I do declare . . . just perfect!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My "vintage" refrigerator doesn't have shelves made especially for storing eggs.

I took an empty plastic foam egg carton, removed the top and then split the bottom part with the indentations for eggs lengthwise. And found that each little lengthwise half would fit perfectly inside the little shelves on my refrigerator door.

I was so pleased and it looked like it was built in my refrigerator for that purpose.

Dear Heloise:

As two of my daughters have very long, rather straight hair, drying after shampooing took an eternity.

Of course, being so long their hair was piled up under the dryer cap and it took ages and ages to dry. Now it's a matter of minutes as they remove the cap and use the hose without the cap as a blower.

In fact they have fun watching their hair "fly-dry."

We want you to have what you want.

If you want something badly enough, we want you to have it. A bank like ours can afford to say yes.

But we want to make sure you can afford it too.

We don't want you to get in over your head.

Believe it or not, the bank doesn't like that any more than you do.

When you sit down with somebody at Marine Midland to figure out a plan (how big a loan, how much credit, whatever), you'll see it doesn't have to happen that way.

We won't give you more money than you can give us back. We won't give you any money if we don't think you can afford the extra burden. We might even say you ought to be saving money instead of borrowing it.

We don't want you to drown in your own riches.

Tiny Tips

When you send knits to the cleaner advise him if the knit is being brought in for the first time.

If your family has outgrown the dining room table, or if you just want enough eating space for a party, snack (or TV) trays are an inexpensive and invaluable investment. Serve a meal buffet-style, with set-ups on each tray, and let your family or guests make themselves comfortable in the living room or playroom.

Use half as much catsup as mayonnaise when you are putting together a Russian dressing. The dressing is particularly delicious on sandwiches of lettuce, sliced tomato and bacon.

Milk is perishable. Keep the containers out of the refrigerator just long enough to pour the amount you plan to use. In the refrigerator, the milk container or cover should be covered so that the milk does not absorb odors of other foods.

Band Concert Scheduled Friday

On Friday, in the Kingston High School auditorium, there will be a band concert by the band from Hanover, N.H. and the Kingston High School Band.

The KHS Band will open the program. The Hanover Band will play a program and then the two bands will combine for the final two selections.

This will be the last concert for this school year and the admission is free.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. and no ticket is required for admission.

The Countess comes with a "dowry"
$150 — so small a price to pay for the lifelong thrill of dining with the COUNTESS — newest and loveliest Deep Silver pattern from International. We say, so small a price, because COUNTESS is the most extravagant silverplate you can own. And the heaviest. It is, of course, the only silverplate inlaid with solid silver...so much so, that under normal use and care, we guarantee it for a lifetime.
Like all royalty, the COUNTESS comes with a dowry. These fabulous silver candelabra have been selling everyday for $60.00 the pair. But they're our gift to you if you purchase the Countess in 48-piece service for eight, at $150, before June 30, 1970.

Do you remember the names of all the Andrew Sisters? Eddie Cantor's theme song? T.V. sets with snow? We do. All those things were in high gear, 20 years ago, when we first opened the doors in our present location, hoping you'd follow us from our long-standing run on Central Broadway.

You did . . . beyond our fondest expectations. You seemed to like our personal service, careful fitting, our quality apparel and famous-brand names; the atmosphere of warmth and informality. You even laughed at Herman's jokes.

And so, looking back over the years . . . our 56th in business in Kingston . . . our 20th in this location, we realize heartfelt thanks are in order.

We're saying it with an exciting "Gala Giveaway,"— a ten day celebration, during which you're invited to register for over $1,400 worth of fine merchandise prizes, 50 separate winners, with drawing on Saturday, May 23rd. 'Ham' World Has Wide Horizons

CQ MESSAGE — Jeanne Fox, novice ham radio operator, prepares to make contact by sendings out a CQ signal, which means simply, "I seek you," an invitation to any ham on the air to make contact with her. She has made contacts in 28 states and a number of foreign countries. Possibly her most exciting contact to date was a letter from Barry Goldwater saying he was "proud to be a fellow ham of yours." She is planning on getting her general license so that she can truly talk on the air. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

By NANCY SULLIVAN

KINGSTON — It's a small world we live in today.

Ask Jeanne Fox. She can tell you that places such as Ootewah, Tenn., Snowflake, Ariz., Ideal, S.D., and towns in England, Germany, Puerto Rico and British Columbia have all become close to home after becoming a licensed ham radio operator in December, 1969.

Jeanne, blind for the past four years, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Fox, 33 Grandview Avenue. A suggestion to become a ham was made to her several years ago and began in August to learn the code. Three Kingston IBMers, Donald G. Wood, Walter J. Short and Stephen P. Krosner, assisted Jeanne in fulfilling her interest.

Jeanne is presently a novice ham operator. To receive a novice license, Jeanne had to learn the Morse code—at least five words a minute—and pass a theory test issued by the FCC. Once on the air, the code must be used and it is not until she receives her general license that Jeanne can use a microphone and talk over the air. To get this general license, Jeanne must know the code so that she can transmit at least 13 words a minute and pass another theory test. "I enjoy the code but I'd much prefer to talk," commented Jeanne.

Jeanne has currently contacted 28 states plus England, Germany, Puerto Rico, and British Columbia. With each contact that she makes, she sends and receives a QSL card, which is the size of a postcard with the persons name, address and call number. When you have contacted all the states, you receive a plaque and so far Jeanne has received 26 confirmations.

Jeanne explained that with the code that must be used as a novice operator, you don't "talk" as long once you are on the air, as it sometimes takes so long to decipher the code. She takes her messages in Braille and her crystals are also in Braille.

The technique of making a contact is a standard procedure. Jeanne explained that once you are on the air you first send out a CQ, meaning simply "seek you" which is an invitation to anyone on the air. Next she sends out her call letters, which are WN2MJM and if anyone wants to "talk" they transmit first her call letters a couple of times and then the word "from" followed by their call letters.

Jeanne explained that you have a good idea of the approximate locality of the ham making contact as the first two letters of a ham's call number describe where they are from. For example, SM would be Sweden, JA, Japan, DJ Germany and VE, Canada. In the United States each section of the country has a specific number, such as the number 2 in Jeanne's call number, indicates that she is from either New York or New Jersey. The number 1 would be the New England States.

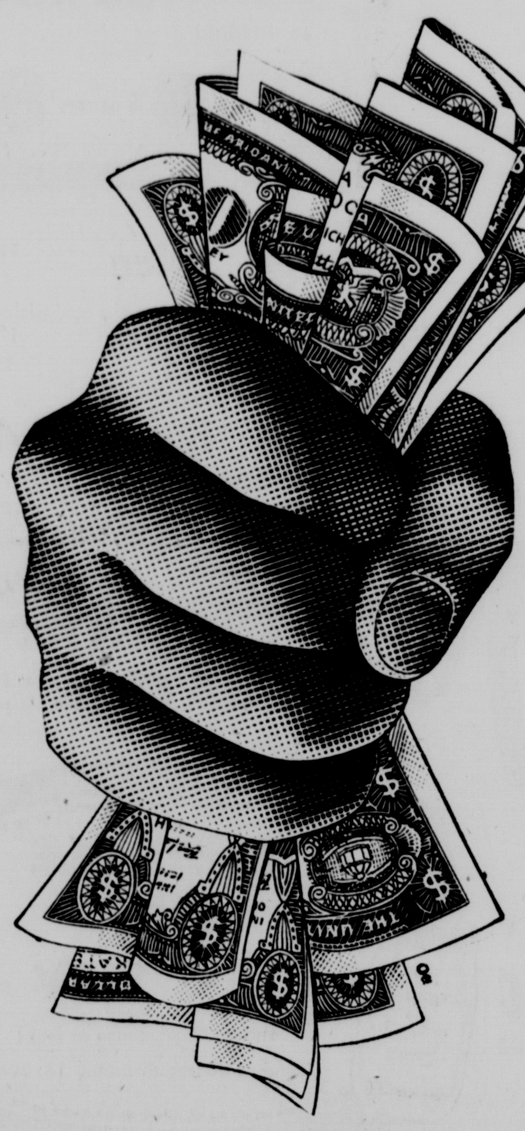

Jeanne finds being a ham operator is "really fascinating." The unknown element, that is, never really knowing who you may be talking to or where you might contact, provides a challenge and Jeanne says, "There's always somebody there."

One of the highlights of Jeanne's ham career came in April when she received a letter from Sen. Barry Goldwater. The letter explained how a friend of his had sent him a picture of Jeanne and her dog, Happy, and the information that she had received her ham license. Sen. Goldwater wrote Jeanne, "One of my best friends in Arizona is our most active MARS operator, running over a thousand patches with the Okinawa hospitals a month, and he has been blind all his life. You'll find that there are many hams who are blind, and this doesn't impair their activity or their ability one single bit. I'm very proud to be a fellow ham of yours, and I hope to have the privilege and pleasure of a QSO sometime." The letter was signed, "With best 88's, Barry Goldwater." Only a ham operator knows that 88's stand for "love and kisses."

Sometime in the future, Jeanne plans to get her general license so that she can truly talk on the air. She has plunged into the life of a ham with a great deal of enthusiasm. Our small world has become a new world for Jeanne. And with the promise of more challenges in the future this new life will prove to be very exciting and "fascinating" for Jeanne.

Do you know this secret of better living?

It's saving, of course. Saving money. It's really no secret at all, except that we tend to forget it in this buy-now-pay-later age.

But millions of Savings Bank depositors don't forget it.

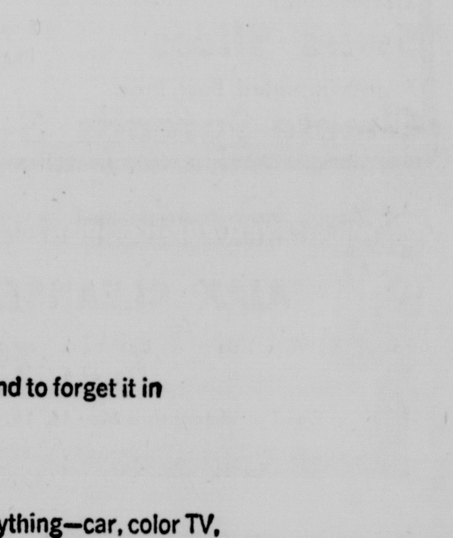

They know that saving is the surest and least expensive way to get just about everything—car, color TV, college education, trips, a cottage in the country.

Let's spell out a few of the advantages of saving:

- By saving before you spend you save when you spend. Smart Savings Bank depositors pay cash instead of paying on time. And they save credit charges of up to 20%. Why spend money on credit charges when you can spend it on yourself?
- While you're saving for things, you're earning high Savings Bank interest-dividends. At present rates you double your money in less than 14 years before taxes.
- Smart Savings Bank depositors use their account as a retirement plan. It's beautiful! It not only guarantees every dollar you invest but also gets fattened by those famous interest-dividends.
- Your Savings Bank account is an investment where you just can't lose. Where else can you find an investment like that?

No wonder people now have more than 11½ million savings accounts in New York State Savings Banks.

They know that, of all banks, Savings Banks are the specialists in personal banking, the banks where people come first.

Savings Banks are people banks.

Trades Follow Draft

Garrett Surprise Pawn in Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — The trading began in the National Basketball Association almost before the league's fourth expansion draft in five years had ended.

More deals were in the offing today as the New York Knicks, newly crowned NBA champions, still wondered how they escaped Monday's selections by Buffalo, Portland and Cleveland without losing the key players.

The runnerup Los Angeles Lakers weren't so fortunate, however. The Lakers unexpectedly left rookie guard Dick Garrett, a starter, unprotected. Buffalo quickly grabbed him.

"I was really surprised to see him available," said Eddie Donovan, Buffalo's general manager. "He's a young player and I thought he had done well for the season and in the playoffs."

Buffalo also selected veteran Bailey Howell from the Boston Celtics. Howell was then 'dealt to Philadelphia for forward Bob Kauffman and a future draft choice or a player to be named later.

Another Boston veteran, Larry Siegfried, was one of the Portland's top picks and the Trail Blazers promptly traded him to San Diego for guard Jim Barnett.

The NBA conducted the draft in secret in the offices of Commissioner Walter Kennedy. The league refused to disclose the order of the selections but the first two choices of each expansion club were released and the remaining 27 picks later were made public in three groups of nine.

Buffalo, which had the first selection, apparently picked Garrett, followed by Ray Scott of Baltimore.

Portland, which selected second throughout while Buffalo and Cleveland rotated, chose Siegfried and LeRoy Ellis of Baltimore.

Cleveland's picks were Luther Rackley of Cincinnati and Walt Wesley of Chicago.

The Knicks, Lakers, Boston, Chicago and San Diego each lost three players, the other established clubs two apiece.

Buffalo appears to have the makings of a fine backcourt. In addition to Garrett, the Braves have Mike Davis, another rookie obtained earlier in a trade from Baltimore, along with Herm Gilliam., Fred Crawford and Em Bryant.

Maroon Netmen Snap Middies' Tennis Winning Streak at '80'

MIDDLETOWN — A local sportswriter said it took Kingston High's tennis team four hours to break a winning streak that Middletown High has been building since 1965.

Coach John Hunter of Kingston said, "it was our greatest victory since I took over coaching."

That was some of the reaction to Kingston High's stunning 3-2 upset of Middletown High here Monday in what was probably the most sensational tennis duel in DUSO League history.

A sweep of the doubles enabled Kingston to hand the Middies their first loss after 80 straight victories. The last team to defeat the Middies was Newburgh Academy, which did it in 1965. In eight years under Coach Tony Gobeo, Middletown has compiled a 123-2-2 record.

The Kingston victory also threw the DUSO League race in a tizzy with three teams — Middletown, Newburgh and Kingston — tied with 2-1 records and Port Jervis at the bottom of the heap with 0-3. Overall, Kingston is now 5-1 and hosts Ellenville Tuesday.

Key Doubles Victory

A brilliant performance in the doubles nailed down the historic win for Kingston. Three of the matches went overtime and the Boyd brothers' (Pete and Jim) victory over Middletown's No. 1 tandem in a marathon 20-18 set gave the Maroon the lift it needed.

Down 5-2, Pete Corsones and Pete Fowler rallied to pull out the No. 2 doubles, 10-8, to clinch the victory.

Middletown had taken a 2-1 edge in singles, when Keith Kaback downed Pete Boyd, 13-11, and Bob Lake Jr. won over Corsones, 10-8. Jim Boyd took Sam Markovits, 10-8.

In the crucial No. 1 doubles, the Boyds jumped into the early lead, but the Middies rallied to tie it at 8-8 before the winners took command.

The Boyd brothers, finishing after the Corsones-Pete Fowler triumph, knew they had to win.

"They responded to the challenge beautifully," said Coach Hunter. "The team was up for the match and I could sense a mood of confidence on the trip to the Middie City."

Praised by Gobeo

Coach Gobeo of Middletown was magnanimous in defeat. "They weren't awed by our record," he said. "They came tc win. We had to struggle for our points. We looked good in spots, but ragged in others."

"You hate to lose," he added "but they fought, they really did."

The Kingston victory, while on the form chart an upset, was not totally unexpected. The Middies have been the only team to defeat the Maroon in Coach Hunter's two years at Kingston. They beat Kingston two straight in 10-2 and 11-2 seasons, but in all four matches, the Maroon pushed the Middies to the wire.

First Loss For Cerdan

NEW YORK (UPI)—Trails of sweat and tears streaked Marcel Cerdan's blood-stained face and in his hands was clutched an unopened bottle of French champagne, 1962 vintage.

But the champagne celebration would have to wait until another time because Cerdan was a loser Monday night for the first time in his career. A young Canadian named Donato Paduano had spoiled the party.

Before the fight, fans waved a sign above their heads as Cerdan walked toward the same ring where his legendary father, the middleweight champion who was killed in a plane crash, had made his American debut in 1946.

"vas-y Marcel, Fait honneur a Cerdan," the sign said—Go, Marcel Honor your father's name.

For a few minutes in the fifth round, when blood gushed from a gash over Paduano's left eye after an accidental butt, victory appeared to be within Cerdan's grasp, too. Paduano's entire body, even his arms and legs, were bathed in blood by the end of the round, and he slumped hopelessly in his corner as Dr. Edwin Campbell examined the wound.

"Now, now," Cerdan's cornermen said in French at the start of the sixth round, but the illusion of victory faded as Paduano regained his tempo. The Canadian took control, snapping back Cerdan's head with darting jabs and then rocking him with hard right crosses.

For the last four rounds, Cerdan backpedalled, refusing to follow up his advantage, and at the end 21-year-old Paduano was the winner of his 19th consecutive fight by a unanimous decision. Cerdan's eyes were glossy from a flurry of punches at the final bell, and his eyes reddened as he fought back tears at the announcement of his first loss in 48 pro fights.

"I thought I won," said the 27-year-old Cerdan afterwards. "I was never really hurt, and I disagree with that American theory that a fighter can't win while he's backing up. I just want a return fight anytime, anywhere."

Paduano's nose, which bled throughout the fight, was twisted at a strange angle, his left eye was blackened, a deep gash gaped in his brow, but his lips, caked with blackened blood, were in a broad victory smile.

"The next time I have a fighter that looks like that I hope you don't stop it," said Chickie Ferrara, the cut man who worked in Cerdan's corner, to Dr. Campbell. And then he added, "You know, once in a while out there, when Cerdan was throwing punches, he looked like his father. I know because I seen his father a couple of times when I was working in his opponent's corner."

Aaron Is Five Away From Magic '3000'

The countdown is on in earnest for Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves but it's over for Tom Seaver of the New York Mets.

The magic number for Aaron is five —the number of hits he needs to become the ninth player in major league history to make 3,000 hits during his career. The eight now in one of baseball's most exclusive clubs —Ty Cobb, Stan Musial, Tris Speaker, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie, Paul Waner and Cap Anson —are all in the Hall of Fame.

Seaver's magic number was eight before Monday night's game with the Montreal Expos —the number of games he had to win consecutively to equal Carl Hubbell's mark of 24 straight victories over two seasons set in 1936 and 1937. Now Tom's magic number is back up to 24.

The 36-year old Aaron moved to within five hits of the 3,000 level Monday when he hit his 14th homer of the season and three singles in the Braves' 7-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs. The homer, the 568th of Aaron's career, led off the 10th inning and was a 425-foot drive into the wind off rookie Archie Reynolds. Aaron's hits figured in four run-scoring innings. His single in the first drove Sonny Jackson, his single in the sixth preceded a homer by Orlando Cepeda that tied the score at 4-4 and he drove in a run with a single in the seventh.

Rico Carty extended his hitting streak to 29 consecutive games with a single that put the Braves in front, 6-4.

Seaver, who lost his last National League game on Aug 5, 1969, ran into a three-hit shutout by Dan McGinn, who pitched the Montreal Expos to a 3-0 victory over the Mets. McGinn, who started the game with an 11.76 ERA, yielded two singles in the first inning and didn't allow another hit until the eighth. Seaver had won 10 straight games to close out the 1969 season and his first six this year. Jim Fairey homered for the Expos.

Bob Veale pitched a three-hitter and Bill Mazeroski doubled home one tie-breaking run in the fifth inning for the Pirates, who dealt Jim McGlothlin his third loss of the season. He struck out nine and walked two in raising his record to 2-3. Willie Stargell homered and Rich Hebner had three hits for the Pirates.

Richie Allen hit his 10th homer of the season with two on in the ninth inning to break up a pitching duel between the Cardinals' Steve Carlton and the Phillies' Jim Bunning. Allen's homer came after Leron Lee opened the inning with a double and Lou Brock was intentionally walked. Carlton pitched a four-hitter and struck out 10 in winning his second game against four losses.

Ken Henderson scored the winning run for the Giants on first baseman Nate Colbert's error on a grounder by Bob Burda. Henderson opened the 14th inning with a walk, went to second on Dick Dietz' safe bunt and to third on a sacrifice by Tito Fuentes. Gaylord Perry, who went 13 innings, was credited with his fourth victory of the season.

Cracks Showing Up In Detroit Hurling

(By The Associated Press)

The cracks in Detroit's pitching and the crevices in Milwaukee's infield have thrown Mayo Smith for a loss and left Dave Bristol fit to be tied.

Chicago's normally meek White Sox, who had scored a total of eight runs while losing their previous four starts, muscled up against five Detroit pitchers Monday night and pounded the Tigers 9-5.

At Milwaukee, meanwhile, ninth inning fielding lapses and a rainstorm combined to interrupt the Brewers' five-game winning streak as the New York Yankees came from behind to earn a 5-5 standoff.

In the only other game on the American League schedule, California nipped Boston 2-1 in 16 innings despite a record-tying strikeout string by Red Sox' starter Ray Culp.

In National League play, Atlanta shaded the Chicago Cubs 7-6 in 10 innings; Montreal stunned the New York Mets 3-0; Pittsburgh downed Cincinnati 4-1; St. Louis beat Philadelphia 3-0 and San Francisco squeezed past San Diego 6-5 in 14 innings.

The White Sox peppered Joe Niekro and four Detroit relievers for 14 hits, including homers by Ed Herrmann and Luis Aparicio, in their biggest offensive binge of the season.

Smith's Tigers have lost five of their last seven starts—while being tattoed for 50 runs. "We're working on a lot of things," said the perplexed Detroit manager. "We'll have to weather it through."

Herrmann stroked three hits, good for three RBI; Syd O'Brien knocked in three runs and Tom McCraw also contributed three hits to the Chicago assault.

The Brewers blew a 5-2 lead in the ninth, with second baseman John Kennedy and third baseman Tommy Harper committing costly errors, before the game was halted by the rain. It will be replayed in full as part of a July 31 doubleheader.

"We made a lot of mistakes," said Brewers' pilot Bristol. "You can't give a team a fourth, fifth and sixth out in an inning and win.

"But any day that you're alive and healthy isn't wasted."

Pitcher Bob Bolin's home run helped the Brewers build their commanding lead against Mel Stottlemyre, but Kennedy's throwing error and Harper's boot handed the Yanks three unearned runs in the ninth.

The Angels snapped a 1-1 tie in the 16th when Jarvis Tatum doubled, took third on a fly out and scored on Sandy Alomar's fourth hit—a blooper over the drawn-in Boston infield.

Culp struck out the first six California batters he faced, tying the modern major league mark set by Detroit's John Hiller two years ago. The all-time record of nine straight strikeouts at the sart of a game was established in 1884 by the New York Giants' Michael Welch.

The Red Sox led 1-0 and Culp was working on a three-hitter in the eighth, when Tom Egan's single, a sacrifice and infield hits by Alomar and pinch hitter Billy Cowan knotted it.

Dave Laroche, making his first major league appearance, pitched to one batter in the top of the 16th and was credited with the victory.

Raceway Feature To Milford Walnut

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway began its full week of operations in its 1970 season by seeing an old familiar, Milford Walnut, take the featured fourth race pace over the mile under the guidance of one of the Mighty M's Top Rated Drivers, Kenneth Heeney, Monday night.

Milford Walnut, a 4-year-old gelding, prior to his appearance at the Sullivan County track, had, during March and April, been doing his stuff at Green Mountain a Pownal, Vt.

Gradually improving his manners and his performance, Milford Walnut, under Heeney's Tutelage, chalked up his second victory for the current year. It was a wire-to-wire accomplishment for offspring of Milford Hanover-Lady Walnut, who now, in 15 starts also has a place finish and two third "show" slots to his credt.

Just prior to the race, George's Jewel, John Gilmour the scheduled driver, was a late scratch. Seven lengths behind leading Milford Walnut, Irish Blend, Elmer Looney in the sulky, came in to place. A head behind, and hugging the rail, was Byliner, Clint Galbraith driving.

The daily double combination was a match between 5 and 3. The opening pace was taken by Knight Katch under the command of Leroy Edmunds. The following trot saw Here Comes Bert the victor, John Manzi at the reins.

The second event, Thinker, Mike Vicidomini the driver, and Lucky Football, George Picard in the sulky, were late scratches.

Slow Pitch League Opens 1970 Season

KINGSTON — The new 32-team, four-division City Recreation Slow Pitch League launched its 1970 season Monday and it proved to be a bonanza for the early season Mickey Mantles and Hank Aarons.

Hitting dominated three of the contests, with Don Smith of Bloomington, the only pitcher to escape the wrath of the batters. He tamed the Braves on seven hits in a 10-1 victory in the American "B" League.

There were four home runs struck in the three games, two of them by The Daily Freeman's Joe Darwak, who slammed two towering blasts over the left centerfield fence, as The Freeman sluggers overwhelmed Hucktrol, 20-5, in a contest mercifully halted after only four innings. Darwak knocked in six runs.

Jim Masse and Russ Stewart each collected three hits for The Freeman, as Don Koeppen won an 8-hitter.

It was a brand new start for Hurley Haven, who didn't win a game during the 1969 campaign. Led by Ralph Longendyke's double, three singles and three RBIs, the Haven outslugged Kingston Hospital 18-9. John Gaddis had three hits and Jack Epsey got credit for the win.

Chris Wirths homered and Jim Williams unloaded three triples and a single for the Hospital.

Lamoreaux Mobil was outhit, 16-9, by Onteora Boosters but won the game, 13-5, behind Bob Sgroi. Joe Friedel homered for Onteora and Joe DiGiovanni sluggged three singles.

The usual opening ceremonies were held before The Freeman-Hucktrol contest. Richard L. Treat, general manager of The Freeman, threw out the symbolic first ball, which was caught by Andy Murphy, the superintendent of recreation.

NFA Nine Nips KHS

KINGSTON — Kingston High School's baseball team may have given away the DUSO league championship Monday afternoon when a routine single turned into a three run homer to give Newburgh High a 4-2 win over the Maroons at Deitz stadium. Both teams are now 2-1 and Port Jervis and Middletown are 1-2.

It all happened this way. Jim Elting walked, Vice Moresco was hit by a pitch and up came Ralph Petrillo with one out. Petrillo lined a shot to shallow left field and the outfielder dove for the ball and it went on by him. The ball ended up at the base of the left field bank and Petrillo had no trouble in touching all four bases.

"Newburgh actually scored those four runs on just two base hits, "Kingston coach Ron Cole explained. "And Petrillo's liner was the only solid hit."

Tom Gallo replaced Don Lackaye and kept Newburgh scoreless for six and one-third innings. Gallo gave up four hits, fanned six and issued two free passes.

Gary Short led Kingston's offense with two singles. Bill Brady drove in both of Kingston's runs with a sinlge and sacrifice fly.

Kingston travels to Port Jervis Thursday for its last regular DUSO league game this season. A win would assure them of at least a first place tie with Newburgh.

UC Golfers Rout Dutchess To Close With 10-2 Record

KINGSTON — Ulster County Community College golfers turned back a strong Dutchess CCC foursome, 335-347, Monday to complete their "best ever" regular season with a record of 10 wins and 2 defeats.

The only measure of satisfaction for the Falcons was the fact that Ted Vallo, their No. 1 swinger, took medalist honors with a 38-38-76 over the par-72 Wiltwyck Country Club layout.

Vallo was the medalist in the Region XV tournament last season.

Ulster's best shooter, surprisingly, was Bob Terpening, who has been unable to crack the Big Four very often this season. Terpening matched Vallo's 38 on the front nine and came back with 42 for an 80.

A double-bogey 6 on the treacherous ninth hole cost Terpening an even par 36 on the front nine.

Dan Powell, the No. 1 UCCC shooter over the season, carded 41-40-81 playing in the No. 1 spot opposite Vallo. Kevin Capalbo and Ed Bardua contributed 87's.

Other Dutchess scores were Jim Castaldi 88, Dick Meybohn 87 and Charlie Van Nostrand 96.

The victory, according to Coach Mike Perry was the first ever scored by the Senators over the Falcons.

The Ulster golfers now head for the two-day Region XV Tournament, where they defend their team title Thursday and Friday. The Thursday round is scheduled at Terry Brae and the finale Friday at Kutsher's Country Club, both in Sullivan County.

"The team is rolling in good shape," said Coach Perry, "and I think we have a chance to repeat. "We don't have that big No. 1 man like Dave Blakely, but we have good balance."

Perry paid tribute to Ian (Scotty) Robertson, professional at Wiltwyck Country Club. "He was a big help this year working with the boys. Wiltwyck Country Club also was very kind to us."

Swept to Death By Niagara Currents

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — An 11-year-old boy, unable to swim and marooned on a raft in the boiling currents of the Niagara River rapids, was swept to his death Monday night over the American Falls.

Two policemen tried frantically to throw a rope to David Fenitz of Niagara Falls, but both rescue attempts failed.

The raft—an eight by 20-foot factory pallet that young Fenitz and two other boys had been playing on in the river—broke up in the rapids just above the falls. The Fenitz boy disappeared in the roaring waters.

Young Fenitz's playmates — Gary Pickel and Richard Miller, both 11 and also from Niagara Falls—had jumped off the raft and swam 30 yards to shore farther upstream.

They said they decided to leave the raft after noticing the current was picking up force. The youngsters said Fenitz couldn't swim. The boys stopped a motorist who summoned Niagara Frontier State Parks Police.

Patrolmen Anthony Laratta and Arthur Woodhead jumped into the river and tried to throw ropes to the Fenitz boy, but failed.

Laratta said the raft "was just too far away, and it all went too quickly."

The policemen then leaped into their patrol car and drove downstream to a point where a small bridge spans the rapids between the American shoreline and Goat Island.

They tried to throw ropes to the boy as he came down through the rapids, but the raft overturned before it reached the bridge, and the Fenitz boy disappeared.

Police said the Fenitz boy and his two buddies had climbed two eight-foot high fences to reach the river bank. It was along the bank, police said, that the youngsters found the pallet and decided to use it as a raft.

The Fenitz boy was the only child of Mrs. Mary Fenitz of 2243 E. Falls St. The Pickel boy's address also was 2243 E. Falls St. The Miller boy lives at 2226 E. Falls St.

Police said the man drove her to a side road near this Southern Tier hamlet and tossed her off a bridge into Big Red House Creek 10 feet below.

Carol, police said, then swam to the embankment. She dozed off and about dawn walked down the side road to Route 17 where two men driving to work found her.

Dear Abby

Truth Is Preferable

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, a junior honor student in college, came home for Easter vacation and told us she wasn't going back because she was five months pregnant and beginning to "show."

She said the man (a graduate student) agreed to marry her; but wanted a divorce after the baby was born because "marriage didn't fit into his plans." She refused his offer of marriage and has decided to keep the baby. She says she doesn't believe in signing a child away like a piece of property she can't use right now.

Her father and I are behind her all the way. We are not trash. We are educated, and considered "nice" people.

We've decided to tell people that our daughter's "husband" went to Vietnam and when he returned he had "changed," so she divorced him. Our clergyman advised us to tell that story and to stick with it.

We still haven't worked out the problem of the baby's name. Any suggestions?

NO NAME OR TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: With all due respects to your clergyman, I say the less lying the better. "O, what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Re a letter from "IRKED" whose "beef" was a nurse who talked too much about her profession at a dinner party. My "beef" is just the opposite. I, too, am a nurse, and I wish people would let me forget it when I'm off duty.

When I'm in uniform I am constantly cornered by strangers who want to give me their complete medical history, and expect an instant diagnosis and even suggestions for treatment. I can be standing in a cafeteria line, in a grocery store, or waiting for a bus. When I'm out socially, my friends will do the same. I try to cut them short by asking, "Have you spoken to your family doctor about this," but it rarely shuts them up. So you may sign me...

IRKED, TOO

DEAR IRKED: Try the standard squelch used by a doctor-friend of mine when he is asked for professional advice at a cocktail party: "I can't discuss it without a physical examination first. Take your clothes off!"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman with three children. There is something about which my husband and I disagree, and I want your opinion.

I am a fairly good housekeeper and I have a lot to do. Lately I have been getting up about 4:30 in the morning. I can't get back to sleep again once I'm up, so I very quietly get out of bed, close the bedroom door, and find some housework to do. I'm not "sick or anything. I'm just all slept out and I wake up. I sometimes wash and wax my floors, do some ironing, and mending and other chores I can't do with three children running in and out.

My husband says I am "nuts!" In fact, we've gotten into some real fights over it. I say it doesn't matter what time I do my work, and as long as I can't sleep, what's the difference? I never disturb him. Am I "nuts" or is my husband being unreasonable?

EARLY BIRD

* * *

DEAR EARLY: You are not "nuts." Your husband is unreasonable. (And I am not merely taking the woman's side.) If your husband were to get up at that hour and busy himself, if you objected, I'd say YOU were "unreasonable."

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "I. M. DOOMED": Please send me your address. Many readers have responded with a treasury of encouragement for you.

* * *

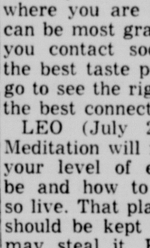

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

* * *

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An ideal day and evening for you to get your family affairs in order. Think out what you can do to have a greater amount of emotional happiness and how to adopt a philosophy of life that can bring you added peace and contentment.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do whatever you can to make home life more ideal. Be sure you make necessary improvements around the home. Evening is fine for entertaining there. Show that you are a charming host or hostess.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Devote some time to personal problems; then be very sociable. Some small trip is good. You can make plans to expand very easily today. Keep busy and keep happy.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you really concentrate you find you know exactly how to improve your financial and social position. Meet with a successful person and find out how he or she made it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You now know where you are headed and you can be most gracious with those you contact socially. Dress in the best taste possible and then go to see the right people. Make the best connections.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Meditation will reveal just what your level of existence should be and how to make plans to so live. That plan you formulate should be kept secret or others may steal it. Be clever in all that you do or say.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Go out with those friends who give you the right slant on how to gain your finest aims. Don't waste valuable time. That clever plan you have is your best means of expression right now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have many things to do so get out early and make headway. Get on the good side of a bigwig who could easily set you back if you antagonize him. Be wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Raise your sights to greater things and show that you are an intelligent person who likes to investigate, study, etc. Get the data you need from the right sources and make good use of it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your intuition is working admirably now and this can help you to get ahead if combined with good judgment as well. Be alert to the desires of romantic tie. Then you have greater happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have a fine opportunity now to cement better relations with an associate who has been difficult. Show others what your aims are and gain their full cooperation. Be gentle in your speaking.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have much to do today, also getting into new outlets for study. Show deep appreciation to those who have been your benefactors. Improving health is wise so you can meet future demands well. Be clever.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You can now gain the favor of good associates and then have a fine time together at whatever recreations are mutually enjoyed. You have a desire for a new hobby, so follow your inclinations. Make it yours.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who feels that home and family are most important, although there is a desire to do a good deal of traveling in this chart as well. This child will be one of those persons whose mood will change with the various phases of the moon. Teach early not to be oversensitive or this fine trait could spoil some of the great promise here. Teach also that there is the physical to contend with as well as the idealistic.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for June is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TRIP TRAP: (Q.) My parents are going on a trip and plan to leave me at home. My boy friend offered to stay at our house while they are gone, and they accepted his offer.

They like him and trust him. They do not know that he loves me more than just kissing and hugging and has tried to go farther. I love him, but not that much.

I am afraid something will happen if we stay in my house together a week by ourselves. What should I say to him? What should I say to my parents?—On the Spot in Pennsylvania.

(A.) Tell your boy friend he musn't stay with you because your friends would automatically assume that something was going on between you two, even if you didn't touch each other for the whole week. This too, is the truth, and your parents should know it.

Maybe you have adult relatives you can stay with or who can stay with you. Staying with your boy friend's parents would be better than the present plan.

It is good for your parents to get away. But not at the possible cost of your good name.

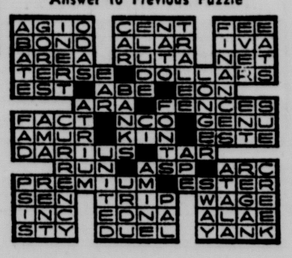

CURLY TOP: (Q.) My hair is thick and very curly. It's wild, too. After I wash it it sticks out. The other boys laugh. The girls do, too. It's no fun. How can I get it straight—Wild Hair in Delaware.

(A.) Home methods won't work too well in a case such as yours. So find a good men's hair stylist and ask him to straighten and restyle your hair.

Season for Summing Up

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the season for summing up, for patting on the back and for passing out awards.

In television, preparations are under way for presentation of Emmy Awards for programs, performers, writers and directors on June 7 during an ABC program.

This year, technical and craft awards of little interest to the general public will be presented a couple of weeks from now at an untelevised dinner of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences as a means of cutting down the clutter and length of the big show.

Close to 170 programs and individuals have been nominated for industry honors. Here follows the choices of this viewer—who would skip a ballot in a lot of the categories.

NBC's "My Sweet Charlie," a film feature with Patty Duke and Al Freeman Jr., certainly shaped up as the season's outstanding single dramatic program and the performances of the two leads were superb.

CBS's "Annie, the Women in the Life of a Man" starring Anne Bancroft was original, charming and funny. It towered over the other variety programs of the season.

"Sesame Street" of the educational network was without much doubt the season's outstanding new series and its impact was felt through all of television. Partly because of its acceptance, the networks have made an effort to upgrade their schedules of children's programs.

"My World and Welcome to It" on NBC was a valiant effort to get away from the tired formula situation comedy. ABC often succeeded in doing something bright and different with comedy in "Love, American Style" and has something warm and wise going in "Room 222."

David Frost with his syndicated series and Dick Cavett with his late night show on ABC have added some class and crackle to the talk shows. Both are nominees for Emmys in a classification that pits them, rather unfairly, against shows like "Laugh-In" and "The Carol Burnett Show."

Candidates for an Emmy in the "outstanding dramatic series" group include the new "Marcus Welby, M.D.," a workmanlike doctor series. Others—"Ironside," "Mod Squad" and "The Name of the Game" are simply good, slick action series. "The Forsythe Saga is a British series made several years ago. Probably the educational network's "NET Playhouse" which tried for diversity and was often stimulating, is most deserving of the statuette in this category.

Declarer Avoids NT at All Costs

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One symptom of mental weakness is that you suspect others of having the same trouble. The man with acute notrumpitis is always looking for the same disease in his partner. Hence, he keeps taking his partner out of no-trump contracts because he suspects that his partner is bidding his no-trumps when he shouldn't.

North has a book two no-trump response to his partner's diamond opening. He has 13 high card points, 4-3-3-3 distribution and preparation for the lead of any suit. True, he doesn't have a guaranteed spade stopper but that is his four-card suit and it is seldom that you have to worry about your own long suit being used as the weapon to distroy you.

Actually, there are those who would respond a spade with the North hand to look for a 4-4 spade fit, but the two no-trump meets with our complete approval.

South has no problem with his hand. He has 13 highcard points, honors in all four suits and no singleton. He should just raise to three no-trump and let his partner collect or 10 tricks, depending on how the defense goes.

This is too simple for the victim of notrumpitis. He has a four-card spade suit and is going to bid it just in case his partner also holds four spades. He does bid three spades. North looks at his four spades and raises to the spade game. East and West take the ace of hearts and three trump tricks and the rubber goes on.

Of course, if North were also a sufferer he would have bid three no-trump, not four spades and South would undoubtedly have given up and let North play the hand.

Saigon Boats Blockade Cambodian Coast

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—South Vietnam sent gunboats 50 miles up the Mekong River today and farther into Cambodia than any other South Vietnamese forces have penetrated in the 10 days since the nation's new government launched a campaign against Communist sanctuaries.

The disclosure of the blockade of the Cambodian coastline was reported to have begun a day earlier. The announcement was made by South Vietnam's vice president, Nguyen Cao Ky, as South Vietnamese gunboats extended their penetration into Cambodia to 110 miles by sailing 50 miles upstream from Phnom Penh to Kompong Cham, the nation's second largest city.

Ky told a news conference in Neak Luong, the Cambodian river town captured by Saigon marines last Sunday, that the blockade began last Saturday and covered about half the Cambodian coastline—a 75-mile stretch between Kompong Som, formerly Sihanoukville, and the Vietnam border.

He said the blockade was begun in agreement with the new Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol and that no American Navy vessels are involved. Foreign ships, he said, are being stopped and search for arms and supplies destined for the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Only a handful of South Vietnamese gunboats made the unopposed 50-mile journey to Kompong Cham today, arriving at 2:45 p.m. Cambodian officials said the city was threatened by Communist troops but not seriously.

Three South Vietnamese petty officers who arrived Monday on the naval flotilla that will return the refugees to Vietnam were attacked by students downtown Monday night. One was killed and the two others were hurt.

Saigon's new envoy to Cambodia, Tham Huy Ty, told a news conference this morning his government was launching "the strongest protest" to the Phnom Penh leadership. Cambodian officials apologized for the death and said six students had been arrested.

The gunboats made their trip to Kompong Cham as guerrilla troops shelled Saigon for the first time in four weeks, firing three rockets into the city and wounding four civilians. One of the missiles landed on the grounds of the presidential palace downtown.

Most of the other South Vietnamese ships and boats remained in Phnom Penh unloading supplies and taking on Vietnamese refugees who want to make the 60-mile trip back to Vietnam.

South Vietnam's foreign minister, Tran Van Lam, urged the Cambodian government this morning to make reparations to the Vietnamese for the property and belongings they are leaving behind in Cambodia.

Officials of the Saigon government in Phnom Penh said it would take the South Vietnamese naval flotilla at least four trips to evacuate everyone who wanted to go.

Spokesmen said the U.S. Command was investigating reports that American advisers remained on the South Vietnamese boats all the way to Phnom Penh in violation of President Nixon's orders that no U. S. troops were to be allowed any deeper than 21.7 miles inside Cambodia.

The vessels were reported unloading medicine and supplies today, with the first return trip to begin Wednesday.

Helicopter gunships caught a guerrilla unit on the move in the Fishhook on Monday and killed 37 soldiers without a loss of their own, spokesmen said. It was one of the only encounters reported by Allied troops searching for more caches in the former sanctuary.

Foreign Relations Committee Votes to Block New War Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, reacting swiftly to last week's widespread antiwar sentiment, has approved legislation to block funds for all American military action in Cambodia.

The bill also would prohibit the Pentagon from authorizing military construction for Cambodia or conducting any air combat activity in support of Cambodian ground troops.

"The way out of Vietnam does not lead through Cambodia," said Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine. "The time has come to substitute new policies for old policies in Southeast Asia."

The amendment, sponsored by Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., also bars the use in Cambodia of South Vietnamese troops that are supported by U.S. funds.

The committee approved the measure 9 to 4 Monday as Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said he had received pledges of support from 31 senators for an amendment to cut off all funds for U.S. operations in Southeast Asia except for what is needed to bring home the troops.

And President Nixon repeated his pledge to 43 of the nation's governors that U.S. troops would be withdrawn from Cambodia by June 30.

As Nixon met with the state executives in the White House, hundreds of college students descended on Capitol Hill to lobby congressmen.

The Foreign Relations Committee also approved an amendment to repeal the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution used by former President Lyndon B. Johnson as the legal basis for sending a massive troop increase to Vietnam.

Chairman William J. Fulbright, D-Ark., said the vote on the latter was unanimous.

In addition, the committee passed a resolution placing a $35 million ceiling on the amount of equipment the Defense Department can give annually to a foreign government.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the White House would not have any comment on Church's amendment barring U.S military activity in Cambodia.

LOOTER SHOT TO DEATH — A young looter lies shot to death on the floor of a grocery store in Augusta, Ga., after this city experienced a night-long series of fires, shootings and looting over much of the East end of the city. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

6 Dead in Augusta 'Guerrilla Warfare'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Hundreds of National Guardsmen rushed into this riot-scarred city with armored personnel cars and mounted machine guns today to help police quell Negro riotiong. A sixth man was shot to death in what was described as "guerrilla warfare."

The soldiers, dispatched by Gov. Lester Maddox with orders not to "tolerate anarchy," set up roadblocks at most major street intersections of this city of 70,000, known widely as the home of the Masters Golf Tournament. Its 130-block Negro district was sealed off.

Gunfire that started Monday afternoon had subsided by daybreak, and authorities reported all of the numerous fires that had been set in the black district were out. The National Guard said up to 1,000 guardsmen would remain on duty in case of further trouble during the day or tonight.

Six Killed

Six men, all black, were killed as police fought snipers, looters, arsonists and rock-throwers. Officers said one man was shot to death around 4 a.m. EDT when he ran from a looted store, firing at officers with a revolver.

At least 25 persons were wounded by gunshots and scores of others injured by rocks, bottles and flying glass. A pall of smoke hung over the city from fires that destroyed at least 30 stores and damaged another 20.

The rioting apparently was touched off by the death of a black youth, Charles Oatman, 16, in the Richmond County Jail over the weekend. Authorities said the youth was beaten to death by two black cellmates.

Negroes roamed in small bands, sniping and firebombing businesses.

"A white man's life ain't worth a damn in here tonight," one patrolman said.

Protest Jail Conditions

Black demonstrators protesting crowded jail conditions, early Monday had demanded 24 hour supervision over the Juvenile Division of the jail.

Mayor Millard Beckum and the City Council scheduled a meeting today with black leaders in an effort to search "with all haste and all sincerity" for a solution to the violence.

Fires dotted the largely Negro section, sending choking smoke over the city. Augusta's 130-man police force tried to keep the violence from spreading. Beckum asked Maddox for aid and the governor in Atlanta, ordered in the soldiers.

One patrol car braked to a stop in front of a small grocery, where lights played on two men, two women and a young girl looting food.

"Get outta that store," commanded a patrolman. "Hold it right there," he ordered as the women and the child leaped out the shattered window.

Fires Revolver

One man followed them. Then a patrolman fired his revolver at the other man inside the store. The man fell among candy gum balls with a bullet in his heart.

The first man and the woman were put in the patrol car. The child, bleeding from a glass cut, was taken away by ambulance.

The patrolman who shot the other man explained. "It looked like he went for a gun." There was no gun on the man.

One man was shot outside a liquor store. Another was killed inside a grocery. Two other men also died in the gunfire. Hospital authorities identified two of the death as William Wright and Sammy McCullough.

John Ruskin wrote long ago, "It's unwise to pay too much, but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much you lose a little money, that is all. When you pay too little you sometimes lose everything because the thing you bought was incapable of doing the thing is was bought to do. The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot. It can't be done. If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add some for the risk you run."
